Display of Military Might Jars With Khrushchev's Peace Talk at Revolution's 10th Anniversary

Tokyo — Mao Tze-Tung flexed his military and civilian muscles today for Nikita Khrushchev with a vast parade celebrating red China's first decade. More than 700,000 Chinese took part.

The 65-year-old Chinese Communist leader put on his big show of force in Peiping less than 24 hours after his guest of honor, in two important speeches, had in effect urged Mao to keep the peace of Asia.

Standing on the high red walls of the forbidden city's magnificent Gate of Heavenly Peace, Mao, Khrushchev and the big men of the communist world took the salute as 144 big guns, 155 jet fighters and bombers and 99 tanks roared past.

Peiping radio, which gave a running account of the ceremonies, said it was the biggest military display ever made by China's communist rulers.

New Chief

Troops of the red army, navy and air force marched by under the eye of their new chief, Defense Minister Lin Biao, the man whose Chinese "volunteers" drove Gen. Douglas MacArthur back from the Yalu river in Korea. Lin talked tough about nationalist-held Formosa. In an order of the day to his troops, he said the red regime would take Formosa "by one means or another."

In an obvious reference to the United States, he asserted "no foreign country can interfere in this."

Khrushchev, leader of the world communist bloc, went to Peiping after a 13-day tour of the United States and talks with President Eisenhower in which both agreed peaceful methods must be used to solve international disputes.

Chinese Premier Chou En-lai said last night he welcomed the Eisenhower-Khrushchev communication, which emphasized a lessening of world tensions. But no other hints have been given of official Chinese reaction to Khrushchev's words.

Peiping radio said the military parade took 40 minutes, and that it was followed by a demonstration by 700,000 workers.

Algerian War Toll At 150,000 Lives

Algiers — The 5-year Algerian war has cost nearly 150,000 lives, the French government says. The toll includes rebels, French soldiers and victims of rebel terrorism.

In addition, a French communiqué said last night, 110,000 persons are being held in prison camps or have fled the country as a result of the nationalist rebellion.

Earlier the rebel government - in-exile claimed the war had taken nearly a million victims and forced a quarter of the 9 million population into exile or detention camps.

Divorcee Vanished

Dutch Sailor Gets Hearing in Killing

New York — A Dutch seafarer receives a hearing today on a warrant charging him with the murder of pretty divorcee Lynn Kauffman, who vanished from an out-bound freighter in Boston harbor almost two weeks ago.

The beaten body of 23-year-old Miss Kauffman, who resumed her maiden name after her divorce, washed ashore in Boston on Sept. 19, the day after the freighter Utrecht sailed for Brooklyn. Held without bail yesterday

Japanese Press Criticizes Lack Of Typhoon Aid

Government Could Have Taken Steps To Lower Deaths

Tokyo — Japanese newspapers severely criticized the government today for not taking steps they said could have lowered the death toll of typhoon Vera.

With 3,570 bodies counted and hope virtually abandoned for 1,741 still missing, the typhoon last Saturday was one of modern history's greatest storm disasters.

The press charged both local and national officials failed to strengthen flood defenses against rivers which broke their banks after the typhoon's torrential rains and drowned thousands.

Newspapers said the population of Nagoya, devastated by the full force of the storm's 160-mile winds, was not adequately warned. They also charged rescue operations were slow in starting.

Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi, speaking to the Japanese Newspaper Publishers association, promised all-out efforts to speed relief.

Deputy Prime Minister Shuji Masutani acknowledged at a news conference a relief headquarters was not set up in Nagoya until three days after Vera struck because the extent of the damage was not realized at first.

As the sorrowing nation struggled to count its dead and ease the suffering of survivors, the weatherman warned another typhoon may strike within 10 days. More heavy rains would seriously hamper rescue and relief work in areas still flooded.

Britain Sets 200 Year Record for Sunny Days

London — Britain, long a stronghold of fog and rain, has just gone through its balmiest summer in more than 200 years. And the sunny weather still lingers.

The weather bureau, making the record official, reported rainfall of only 7.5 inches from May to September. The previous record (things go back a long way in Britain) was set in 1750, when the summer's rain totaled 8.1 inches.

September's temperatures averaged near or above 80 degrees every day. October entered with a warm, sunny day.

Police in Buenos Aires, Argentina, have a bit of trouble on their hands as a woman protests the arrests of hundreds of metallurgic workers. Police seized the headquarters of the workers who have been on strike for six weeks.

Strike, Summit, Jayne Mansfield Step Up Pace in Britain Campaign

Wildcat Walkout Comes on Heels of Poll Showing Conservatives Losing

London — A strike, the summit and Jayne Mansfield stepped up the pace of Britain's general election campaign today.

The wildcat strike by 1,800 employees of a big oxygen firm came as another public opinion poll showed the laborites still gaining on the conservatives who have governed Britain since 1951.

The poll, published in the liberal News Chronicle, said Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's conservatives had support from only 39 1/2 per cent of the voters—only 1 1/2 per cent more than Hugh Gaitskell's labor party.

Electorate Undecided Poll takers said they found 18 per cent of the electorate still undecided how to vote.

Wealthy Oilman, Sid Richardson, Dies in Texas

Fort Worth, Texas — Funeral services for Sid Richardson, one of Texas' fabulously wealthy oil men, will be held here tomorrow at Broadway Baptist church.

Evangelist Billy Graham will assist Richardson's pastor, the Rev. H. Guy Moore, in conducting the 10 a.m. service. Burial will be at Athens, Texas, where Richardson was born.

A business associate said Richardson and Graham had been good friends for about 11 years.

Richardson died yesterday of a heart attack on the 27-mile-long island he owned off the Texas coast near Corpus Christi. He was 68.

A bachelor, he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. E. P. Bass of Fort Worth and Mrs. Howell E. Smith of Dallas; a nephew and business partner, Perry R. Bass of Fort Worth; and a niece, Mrs. James B. Kirk-Smith of Dallas.

Richardson, who shunned publicity, was ranked by some estimates as one of the richest men in the country. His wealth was difficult to estimate because much of it was in underground oil with undetermined potential.

He was a friend of President Eisenhower and of Franklin D. Roosevelt. He broke a lifetime of loyalty to the Democratic party to support Eisenhower for the presidency.

Platters on Trial on Charge of Aiding and Abetting Prostitution

Cincinnati — Four rock 'n' roll singers, internationally known as the Platters, go on trial in municipal court today on charges of aiding and abetting prostitution.

The manager of the Negro group, currently appearing at a Pittsburgh, Pa., night club, said Wednesday night that the four "will be there"—at the trial.

With them will appear four 19-year-old girls, three white and one Negro, who were arrested with the four in a police raid on rooms in a downtown hotel, Aug. 10.

3 Little Foxes Scared by Big Bad Army Lieutenant

Huntsville, Ala. — The army ordnance missile command says the three little foxes at Redstone arsenal have absolutely nothing to do with any space experiment.

The story of the three little foxes began Wednesday night, when Mrs. Carolyn Harper, a secretary, left the AOMC headquarters building about 8 p.m.

Mrs. Harper had been working overtime. She was tired. She thought that her eyes were playing tricks.

Fox Near Car But between Mrs. Harper and her automobile, there was a fox. No doubt about it. She ran back to the building and told the guard, Tracy Bishop, a man of sound reasoning. Bishop strolled over to the parking lot. To his amazement, there was not one fox, but two.

"Enough of this," said Bishop. He called the MPs. Now if anybody at Redstone arsenal is of sound reasoning, it's Lt. John Parker of the 201st Military Police company.

Peeking at him from behind a car was a little gray fox. Here, surely, was a situation not covered in the training manual.

So, Parker waived his arms and made like a commando. The little fox skittered.

But then there was another one. Parker made like an angry marine this time, and that little fox, too, moved off to sit beside its friend and watch the proceedings.

Did All Expected Parker had decided that he had done all that was expected of him when another little gray fox peeked out at him. This time the lieutenant put added authority in his voice and screamed like a Redstone missile guard. That did it.

All three foxes made strategic withdrawals, then sat down and watched from nearby.

Parker gave up. When he left the three little foxes were still nosing about the parking lot.

Regents Will Comply With New Statute

Madison — The President of the University of Wisconsin board of regents said today he will comply with a newly-enacted statute requiring all meetings of the board and its committees be open to the public.

Carl E. Steiger, said at his home at Oshkosh, that he had sent a letter to Gov. Gaylord Nelson advising that the board intends to conform to the new law in all respects.

Steiger's assertion followed receipt of a letter from Nelson who advised regents they must comply with a 1959 law calling for open meetings by governmental bodies.

Nelson acted after Atty. Gen. John Reynolds held the regent board was subject to the law. The chief executive requested Reynolds' opinion after newsmen were barred from a committee meeting preceding a special meeting of the board. Newsmen attended this special meeting.

The regents had contended that they were not required to admit newsmen or the public to such committee sessions.

U. S. Winning Support To End Discrimination Of Its Foreign Exports

World Bank Governors Expected To Endorse Subsidiary Plan Soon

Washington — The United States was winning support today for its effort to wipe out foreign discrimination against its exports and to spread the burden of foreign aid.

The governors of the world bank were expected to endorse the U.S. plan to create a billion-dollar subsidiary, the International Development association. It would make easy-pay loans for industrial development in poorer countries now helped largely by U.S. funds.

In addition, many members of the 68-nation international monetary fund were backing an American campaign to wipe out trade and payments restrictions against exports from the dollar-using countries.

Complete Meeting

Sessions today and tomorrow complete the joint meeting of the world bank and fund boards of governors, made up of the finance ministers of most nations of the free world.

Some delegates today predicted privately perhaps as many as 15 countries, mostly in Europe, will eliminate their discriminatory trade payments regulations within the next few months, in response to the pressure of this country and the monetary fund itself.

The fight for the changes were led by Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson. He told the boards of governors that because of U.S. foreign aid and of restrictions on its exports, it is pouring out $4 1/2 billion a year more than it is getting back.

Because of this, he said, the United States must consider curtailing its foreign military and economic aid if some other industrial nations do not dismantle their barriers against American exports — and if those countries do not shoulder a share of the foreign aid load.

Taylor Holmes, Veteran Actor, Succumbs, 80

Hollywood — Actor Taylor Holmes, whose theatrical career spanned 66 of his 80 years, died last night.

He was among the most noted matinee idols of the early 1900s.

He continued his career to the end, appearing in television shows this year.

Holmes died unexpectedly in his family home in Hollywood, where he lived with his daughter, actress Madeleine Holmes, in private life Mrs. Victoria Osorio.

Funeral services will be conducted at 8 a.m. Saturday in Blessed Sacrament Catholic church in Hollywood.

Holmes was a distinguished looking man who again became familiar to the public when his old movies were released to television.

In recent years Holmes, a native of Newark, N. J., has appeared in numerous "Dragnet" and "Lineup" TV shows. In 1901 he played in Hamlet with E. H. Sothern at the Garden theater in New York.

He appeared in play after play in Broadway theaters and on tour. Among some of his big hits were "Marriage A La Carte," "The Third Party," "The Great Neck," "The Sap," "Big-Hearted Herbert," "Tobacco Road" and "I'd Rather Be Right."

He made many movies, among them "The Return of Sherlock Holmes," "Only The Brave," "An American Tragedy," "Dinner at Eight," "Nana," "Great Expectations" and "The Dominant Sex."

State Driver Growing Lax About Car

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — The Wisconsin motorist is growing lax about the mechanical condition of his automobile, according to evidence turned up today by the state motor vehicle department.

Nearly one third of vehicles inspected by state and local traffic officers during a week in early September showed defects.

The ratio was the highest ever recorded in the periodical inspections. Nearly 48,000 motorists were stopped for examination. Five-day tickets were issued to more than 15,000. Two most common defects were in stop lights and directional signals. Next in order of the major offenses were poor tail-lights, improper headlights and defective brakes.

Rain, Snow Hit Denver Crews During Cleanup

Fall Light Compared With 11-Inch Depth Collected Tuesday

Denver — Snow and rain lashed again today as crews struggling to clean up tangles of tree limbs and power lines strewn by the city's worst September snowstorm since 1936.

The continuing snow was light compared with the 11-inch fall that cascaded onto full-leaved trees and sent branches crashing through electric and telephone lines early Tuesday.

Four men were listed dead from heart attacks attributed to undue exertion while removing snow and debris from their properties.

Estimated Damage Mayor Dick Batterson estimated the storm damage would run into millions. This included damage to trees and shrubbery, repairs to utility lines, traffic control systems and wages for cleanup repair crews.

Public Service company said electric power would not be restored to all parts of the Denver metropolitan area until Saturday morning. Both Public Service and Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company have summoned repair crews from other states to assist.

Public Service received 18,000 service orders Tuesday compared with a normal day's load of 400 orders. There is still a backlog of more than 2,500 orders to be filled. These are calls for repairs or adjustments to electric and natural gas service at residences and businesses.

Public Entitled To Facts in Steel Dispute

Secret Talks Won't Contribute Much to Settlement

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—President Eisenhower says that he is "getting sick and tired of the apparent impasse" in the settlement of the steel strike, and "so are the American people."

While quick to add that he is "not going to try to assess any blame," the president goes on to say that free collective bargaining has "apparently broken down."

This is rather a sensational appraisal, and the public is entitled to know the facts on which it is based. Federal law makes collective bargaining compulsory, and the National Labor Relations board has in its files a pile of cases that say both sides must "bargain in good faith."

Why have collective bargaining negotiations "broken down"? What has actually happened? The two sides in the steel controversy can refuse to agree, and there's no way of making them do so unless the government becomes a sort of dictator. Then the word "free" would have to be omitted hereafter—and also the phrase "collective bargaining."

Truman Administration

Former President Truman, who is given to making impromptu comments every now and then to bolster his own impression that he was just about the best president America has ever had, remarked the other day about steel strikes during his administration:

"I didn't sit around and wait for the country to go to pot. I settled them."

But how did he do it? A little thing like the constitution of the United States didn't bother him. He had no authority under any law to seize the steel industry in the spring of 1952—but he did. The Supreme court of the United States promptly ruled that his action was unconstitutional. But the damage had already been done. While the steel plants were in government hands, the industry was ordered to pay a certain level of wages which it had refused to grant previously during collective bargaining. There was no turning back on that score.

As for the current steel controversy, maybe while the Khrushchev trip was in the offing, it wasn't a very good idea for congress to be enacting a law authorizing government seizure of an industry.

This might tend to prove that our free American system isn't effective after all and that, when an organized economic group demands its way, it gets what it wants. It does so by inflicting considerable damage on the public. The unions usually win because they have the potential votes at the polls. Also, plenty of people outside the unions who are affected don't care who is appeased as long as a strike is ended.

Affects Economy

The present steel strike happens to be a dispute that affects not only the steel industry but the whole economic future of the nation. It is related to the purchasing power of the dollar and whether millions of Americans on fixed incomes shall be robbed.

Not long ago the public was demanding the "facts" in the steel dispute. The kind of facts disclosed were technical and related only in a general way to what each side was asking. The American people have never been told and $2.75 a week for what is really involved. The job clerks. Under the old contract, which expired Sept. 19, troversy is whether union installers average $2.67 an members shall be paid for hour and job clerks $65.60 a work not done.

Disqualifying Diseases Listed By Air Agency

The federal aviation agency has spelled out what diseases will disqualify a person from obtaining a pilot's license. Effective Oct. 15, the disqualifying medical conditions will include diabetes mellitus requiring insulin, coronary artery disease, a history of psychosis or certain other mental or nervous diseases including behavior disorders, chronic alcoholism, drug addiction or epilepsy.

Dr. James Goddard, FAA surgeon, said the number of persons who will be disqualified under the amended regulation is expected to be very small since the policy over the years has been to deny medical certificates to persons with such defects.

City Considers Shut-Off Date For All Work

Pointer to Confer With Broehm on Time Needed for Billing

Ald. Roy Pointer will confer with City Clerk Broehm on a shut-off date for acceptance of public works projects.

The meeting was ordered by the street and sanitation committee as committeemen considered a plea from the council's finance committee. Finance committeemen said they want Broehm to be furnished ample time to get all special assessments against property owners who elect the 5-year installment plan onto the next tax roll.

Creates Work

Acceptance of work late in the year creates so much work for Broehm's office, it was said, that many tax roll billings have to be postponed as much as 14 months, resulting in added interest charges.

Pointer has pressed for some time for early planning of public works so that work could start as soon as weather permits and be finished well in advance of billing dates.

Other street committee actions:

Dick Tillman was given permission to remove two public parking stalls on the west side of N. State street in order to provide access to six private, off-street stalls he'll provide at the northwest corner of State and College avenue. He will have to construct a safety island in the middle of the entrance, the committee ruled.

Scheduled in 1960

Sewer, water, grading and graveling was ordered for 1960 on Westwood court and Willow court. It was sought by Hoeppner Construction company.

Sidewalk was ordered constructed on N. Appleton street from 2226 to W. Lindbergh street and on Lindbergh, between Superior and Appleton streets, where not now in place.

New street signs were ordered placed at Adams and Verbrick streets.

The YMCA was given permission to construct three entrances to their planned parking lot at Lawrence and Morrison streets.

Ald. Donald Mueller was told that it is too late this season to fill the recessed curb at 610 E. Parkway boulevard, and he should bring it up again next year.

Electrical Workers Reach Agreement on New 16-Month Pact

New York —The Western Electric company and the Communications Workers of America reached agreement Tuesday on a new 16-month contract for 12,000 workers in 44 states.

The new contract provides wage increases of 6 to 12 cents an hour for installers people have never been told and $2.25 to $2.75 a week for what is really involved. The job clerks. Under the old contract, which expired Sept. 19, troversy is whether union installers average $2.67 an members shall be paid for hour and job clerks $65.60 a work not done.

Negotiations have been under way here for the past five weeks. There was no strike just what they desire by way threat. The new package also includes various fringe benefits. It must be acted on by wage increases based on the union's membership by Oct. 22.

Western Electric's installers set up equipment for central telephone exchanges in cities throughout the country.

Court Ruling Issued Under Copyright Act

Houston —A Dist. Judge Joe Ingraham granted a judgment of acquittal Monday to a former wrestler convicted by a jury in an oil map case viewed as a test of a federal copyright law.

The reversal of the conviction, Texas, held the copyright. The firm makes and supplies as a setback in oil company's efforts to halt the piracy and other customers. Judge Ingraham, based his ruling on the fact that the jury last July 9 found the sale of 20 aerial maps apparently taken from the Humble Oil & Refining company. The Edgar Tobin Aerial Survey company, San Antonio, sold the maps to

Gordon Kroll, then an assistant U.S. attorney, on Sept. 16, 1959, for $200. The jury recommended a minimum sentence. Federal copyright laws, Judge Ingraham wrote, "are considered to mean that the copyright proprietor is not empowered, merely by virtue of his copyright, to control the sales of published copies after they have come into the lawful ownership of the first purchaser. . . . Oil companies had banked on the copyright law as an aid in their fight against theft of valuable oil maps. An attorney said the companies' secret data seldom is copyrighted when added to maps such as those produced by the Tobin firm as such action would require them to be filed as a public record. The trial did not disclose

Beings From Other Planets

Soviet Scientist Says He Looks for Humans to Meet Strange Beings

London — A Soviet scientist predicts that space-probing earthlings eventually will meet up with beings from other worlds. Together they would go on to conquer the cosmos. "Soviet science already commands the means to send cosmic rockets to Mars and Venus," Moscow radio says. To be sure of getting to Venus a rocket will have to be set off precisely at 11.5 kilometers (7.46 miles) per second — "somewhat greater" than the speed of Russia's rocket which hit the moon, the broadcast said. In man's conquest of the cosmos, Moscow radio reported, Astronomer Feliks Segal believes the space travelers will first colonize the moon. Then they will conquer the rest of the planets. Finally they will venture forth into other solar systems. In a broadcast beamed to North America, Moscow ratures will be maintained artificially. "Air will have to be exported to the moon and also water and food," the radio said. "They will be shipped by rocket. Later on people will learn to produce the water and air they need right on the moon. Could Create Air "There is a possibility that the moon is rich in minerals, especially uranium ores. If that is so, powerful nuclear stations can be built for the production of nitrogen, oxygen and the other gases which enter into the composition of air. "The ores of which the moon is composed will serve as the raw material for this." In time, Moscow went on, if enough stations are built, they can generate an artificial atmosphere around the moon. This will give rise to clouds, the first rains will fall, and rivers and seas will be created. Segal gave no date for all this, but Radio Moscow said he predicts that in "perhaps no more than some decades" man will be living on the moon. From there he will push on to Mars, Venus and even Mercury. "It would be quite possible to create an artificial atmosphere on Mars that would resemble the atmosphere of the earth," added the broadcast. Unsuitable for Men But Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus and Neptune, other planets in the solar system are all evidently unsuitable for human habitation. All of them are huge planets which are partly made up of gases and bear more resemblance in structure to the stars than to the earth. The time will come, he said, to send rockets to the stars. "That raises the question as to what chances exist of man meeting with inhabitants of other worlds in the course of his interplanetary flights. "It is predicted that such meetings will take place." Moscow radio said one Soviet scientist estimates that one inhabited planetary system must exist for every million stars. "Consequently there must be about 150,000 inhabited planetary systems in our galaxy. "On some of them life exists in lower forms. But there must be planets, too, whose inhabitants may even be higher than man in point of development. "Some of them may even have begun to make flights into space. Therefore we should have meetings with them. "If such meetings do take place, they may result in the coordination of the efforts of man and these other intelligent beings in the great work of combating the elemental forces of nature."

Ground Breaking Ceremony Held

Scandinavia — A ground breaking ceremony for the new parish addition to the Lutheran church was held following service Sunday. A fourth grade Sunday school pupil, Larry Matson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Matson, rural Scandinavia, dug the first shovelful. The ceremony had been planned Oct. 4, but was moved up when it was learned digging operations would commence this week.

1,109 Enroll At St. Norbert First Semester

A total of 1,109 students enrolled at St. Norbert college this fall, compared to 1,095 a year ago and 907 in 1957. College officials cited higher tuition and stepped-up entrance requirements as possible reasons for the smaller growth. Tuition is $50 more this year than last, reflecting a faculty salary increase and larger faculty, the Rev. D. M. Burke, O. Praem., said. 320 Freshmen There are 320 freshmen, 234 sophomores, 151 juniors and 152 seniors, with the rest of the enrollment being special students. Students from Brown county account for 48.6 per cent of the total, while 776, or 70 per cent, live in 13 counties in northeastern Wisconsin. In all, 44 Wisconsin counties, 10 states, Japan and Hong Kong are represented. Treacherous Thieves Embarrass Authorities Phoenix, Ariz. — County juvenile probation officers were a bit red-faced when they called the city police department. They reported the theft of a $250 dictating machine from the probation office.

Farm Groups Oppose Bill On Wage Rates

Measure Would Bar Youths Under 14 From Summer Jobs

Madison —A— Wisconsin farm groups told a U. S. Senate hearing Wednesday bills designed to provide a $1 an hour minimum wage for farm labor, and bar employment of youths under 14 in summer farm jobs were an attempt to involve government more deeply in agriculture.

Spokesmen for the farm groups testified at a Senate Migratory Labor subcommittee hearing presided over by Sen. Harrison Williams (D-NJ). The hearing will move to St. Paul, Minn., today.

The Wisconsin Farm Bureau, one of the largest organizations in the state, said migrant workers are paid adequately. The bureau said the senate wage proposal ignored the fact that much migratory labor is paid for on a piece-work basis and makes it impossible to guarantee a minimum wage.

Oppose Proposal

Other agricultural organizations opposing the wage proposal were the Wisconsin Potato Growers association and the Muck Farmers association.

They joined the Wisconsin State Employment Service in opposing the bill which would bar employment of youths under 14 for summer work. Under present law there is no restriction on minimum age of agricultural workers outside of school hours. The employment service suggested 12 years as a minimum. The farm bureau said 13 would be realistic.

The employment service said more thought should be given to creating jobs for young people rather than prohibiting their employment in occupations where proper safeguards are established and maintained. The service said the law would affect not only a large number of migrant workers' children but Wisconsin youths as well.

Representatives of two church groups contended migrant workers are underpaid. A Wisconsin Council of ther negotiations on a new pact.

The agreement was that any benefits received by the union in a new contract would be retroactive.

The union could not obtain the same agreement elsewhere and finally last night, a few hours before the old contract was to expire, a big Manhattan local rebelled and voted to go ahead with the strike.

This was Local 291, whose members handle loading and unloading of big ships along Manhattan's Hudson river piers. Thousands of other dockmen in south Atlantic and gulf ports sided with the rebels.

Leaders of the independent International Longshoremen's association then bowed to the rank and file demand, ordering a full-scale strike.

As morning arrived, pickets marched in front of piers up and down the seacoast.

Some Beat Deadline
Some ships in port had raced the midnight deadline in order to be loaded before the strike but many others were caught by the tieup. Union officials estimated the figure at between 175 and 190 in the port of New York alone.

Large passenger liners expected to maintain their sailing schedules but the longshore strike meant passengers would have to tote their own luggage aboard. Two preparing to sail from New York were the German liner Berlin and the Swedish liner Kungsholm.

Meanwhile, in New York the federal mediation and conciliation service sought to get both sides together this afternoon.

Robert H. Moore, deputy director of the service, said the New York Shipping association, the employer group, "doesn't feel it wants to meet with the longshoremen while an illegal strike is in progress."

Shortly after the first walkouts began with the contract expiration at midnight, the president of the International Longshoremen's association, Capt. William V. Bradley announced here that the union would bow to the popular will.

"We were all right in New York," he declared, "but we've got to support these other men to the hilt. We'll call everybody off the job today in all the ports along the east coast. There won't be any work."

"Don't get the idea this is a wildcat strike. It isn't," he added. "They couldn't get the kind of extension agreement

Possible Draft Of Davis as GOP Candidate

Former Congressman Would Enter 1960 Race for Governor

Milwaukee —A— A possible draft of former congressman Glenn R. Davis of Waukesha as the Wisconsin Republican party's 1960 candidate for governor loomed on the state's political horizon Wednesday.

Leo Roethe of Fort Atkinson, the chairman of Second district Republicans, said there is considerable interest among the voters to draft Davis as a candidate. Roethe hinted the drive may start at a GOP dinner in Madison on Oct. 21.

Davis, who represented the Second district, indicated last August that he would not engage in a contest for the party's endorsement but would run for the office if the state GOP showed it was solidly behind him.

Davis did not seek reelection to congress in 1956 when he sought the party's nomination for the U. S. senate. He lost to Sen. Alexander Wiley. In 1957 when a special election was called to fill the unexpired term of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, Davis was defeated in the primary by former Gov. Walter Kohler.

The Second district is made up of Davis' home county of Waukesha and Columbia, Dane, Dodge and Jefferson counties.

Two Men Die In Separate State Accidents

Milwaukee —A— The deaths of two men in separate accidents have raised Wisconsin's highway toll for 1959 to 606, two more than on this day a year ago.

Alvin Schultz, 39, of Wisconsin Rapids, was killed early today when his auto plunged off Portage County Highway BB near Bancroft and turned over. He was alone.

Lester J. Christianson of West Allis, was killed Wednesday night when the car he was driving and another vehicle collided at an intersection near his home. Christianson, 20, was alone in his car.

More Easily Hurt Once 30 Reached

Atlantic City, N. J. —A— You're more easily hurt — at work or play—once you hit the age of 30, a Los Angeles surgeon said today.

And things get worse as you grow older—not better.

One reason is that all of the minor injuries you've had over the years begin to pile up, Dr. Daniel H. Levinthal told a meeting of the American College of Surgeons.

Your reflexes are slower, and the very tissues of your body are less elastic than in your younger days.

As if that weren't enough, when you do hurt yourself, your body can no longer repair itself back to the pre-injury condition.

Of course many persons who keep themselves in good physical condition minimize much of this, explained Levinthal, an orthopedic consultant to the Los Angeles Rams football team.

way to the scene over flooded and almost impassable roads said the largest piece of its furnishings they found was a twisted refrigerator.

Over the foundations of the duplex lay a tangle of fallen trees. Bodies were found scattered over an area of 400 yards on the nearby hillside.

The Morris family dead were Erwin, Sr.; his wife Frances, also in her late 40s; their children, Wilmer, 15; Ruby, 15, and James, 18; Mrs. Erwin Morris, Jr., 18, and her two children, Peggy, 14, and Michael, 7 months; and George Morris, 40, a brother of Erwin Morris, Sr.

The body of Shirley Ann Morris, 3, was discovered today. The family relationship could not be immediately established.

Erwin Morris, Jr., 21, and two children of the elder Morris, Frances Anne, 5, and Herbert, 3, were hospitalized.

Two other children of the elder couple, Mary, 12, and Georgia, 13, were waiting out the rain at the home of friends and escaped. They earlier had been reported missing.

A neighbor of the Morrises said he saw a small child

"just disappear right up into the air" when the tornado hit. A number of outbuildings near the duplex were flattened. Portions of the wreckage were found many hundreds of yards away.

Word of the tragedy spread slowly because telephone lines into the rolling countryside of Ivy, in the foothills of the Blue Ridge mountains, had been knocked out by the earlier tornado.

Eight ambulances eventually sent to the scene had to be pushed and pulled over portions of U. S. 250 submerged by the rain.

Both the Morris and Bruce dwellings were on a farm owned by W. E. Lindsay on route 708. Bruce is employed at a bottling company here. Most of the Morris men worked at a lumber mill near Ivy.

Eisenhower Arrives in Midst of Dust Storm

Palm Springs, Calif. —A— A deeply embarrassed Chamber of Commerce promised President Eisenhower good golfing weather today—the warm sun prescribed for his cold.

The president flew across the continent from Washington Wednesday, out of the fringe of hurricane Gracie, only to arrive in this desert resort country in the midst of a gusty sandstorm. There just wasn't any sunshine.

But Eisenhower, trying to shake a nagging cold he has had since Labor Day, obviously was pleased by a hearty welcome and the prospect of plenty of golf during the next week.

Everybody Wants Peace but —

After spending a weekend together, President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev have both reported progress in bringing about better relations between the two countries.

There is no doubt at all about the desires of the people in Russia and in America. The people of both countries are weary of long years of tension in the cold war and the constant threat that a hot war might break out at any moment. Since the people of both countries want peace why can't they have it?

The two great obstacles to ending the cold war are first, distrust between the parties, and second, the difficulty of getting the allies of the two powerful nations to agree to terms that might be proposed.

Nevertheless Khrushchev and Eisenhower were able to make some progress. According to Khrushchev, both men found a better understanding of the two nations' positions and the need to improve relations. We think that means both men realize that the distrust which is keeping them apart might be eased somewhat if each understood the other's problems better. They agree that all problems should be settled by peaceful negotiations rather than by force. When men come to such a conclusion it is almost inevitable that they must find some authority to handle negotiations.

The big test of course will come on the problem of disarmament. The final decision on peace or war never will be surrendered by any sovereign nation but when sovereign nations through their leaders are convinced that war means the annihilation of both nations, it is pretty obvious that some way to prevent it must be found and accepted. In an earlier day the prospect of building up some advantage through the concealment of armaments would have had a certain appeal to a dishonest ruler. However, as matters stand today there is practically no prospect that any one nation can secretly build up armaments to a point where it can annihilate the other without being seriously damaged if not totally destroyed itself. Since this fact is well known to both Khrushchev and Eisenhower, and freely acknowledged by both, there must be some hope they will give their best efforts to finding a solution to the existing cold war relationships.

It may be considered a first faltering step in this direction that the two men agreed to increase the exchanges of persons and ideas and hope to implement that agreement shortly. There was no progress apparently on German reunification but there was agreement to begin negotiations with the approval of all other countries concerned with the Berlin problem. Berlin is a serious problem for both Russia and the United States. West Berlin is the showplace of western civilization and since it is so far superior to anything in Eastern Germany it is a source of constant irritation to the soviet rulers. It is so attractive that thousands of East Berliners are escaping across the border every month. The Berlin problem is a rank poison to soviet leaders since it makes them look bad every day and belittles them in the opinion of their own people and the people of their satellite countries.

It also is a continuing source of worry to the leaders of the western nations. It is a modern western city but it is located 110 miles inside of the Russian held German territory and is vulnerable to soviet attack.

People close to the Berlin problem firmly believe that the Russians have a great fear of German military might. Probably the greatest military punishment ever inflicted upon the Russians came with the German invasion under Hitler. The Russians suffered terrific losses and this fact probably accounts for their determination to take over and neutralize a part of Germany at the close of World war II. The Russian fear of a revival of German military strength is probably only a little less than their fear of an atomic attack. Before this question can be settled it would appear that somehow the Russian leaders and the Russian people must be satisfied that no such attack ever can occur again.

It should be added the German fear of Russia is no less than the Russian fear of Germany. Thus the problem of the Russian and American leaders is not only to build trust and confidence between those two countries but also to provide reassurance among all of the interested parties for the same distrust and fear is to be found everywhere in Europe. But the task is not impossible: in fact, an answer must be found if we are to escape destruction.

Suez Canal Should be Open to All

Mrs. Golda Meir, Israel foreign minister, made some very interesting points before the general assembly of the United Nations as she condemned the attitude of the United Arab Republic in refusing to permit Israeli ships or cargoes to go through the canal.

She declared that the Danish ship, Inge Toft, which was stopped last May with a cargo originating in Israel is being held to this day at Port Said. Israeli ships have been barred from the canal since the Palestine war but Mrs. Meir said that interference with the shipment of goods from Israel through the Suez canal is without precedent prior to six months ago. This constitutes a new policy, she said, which is aimed at "inflaming a long standing issue and creating fresh tensions."

She declared that Egypt is attempting to exercise a veto over legitimate trading activities not only of Israel but of many other countries particularly in Asia and Africa. She pointed out that now over 300 ships belonging to 21 different countries have been blacklisted and are subject to Egyptian sanctions. She added that if Egypt can establish the right to use the canal as an instrument of political coercion against Israel it also will be establishing the right to use it against any other nation it may choose to punish.

She impressed upon the assembly the point that the charter of the United Nations declares that the "scourge of war" is to be abolished as an instrument of national policy. The only exception, she said, is "the inherent right of self-defense against armed attack."

Dr. Farid Zeineddine, deputy foreign minister of the United Arab Republic, replied to Mrs. Meir, but he succeeded only in affirming her charge that the canal is being used by the Arab Republic as an instrument of political coercion. The question of free passage through the canal is an aspect of the Palestine problem, he declared. What moral right does Israel have when 95.5 per cent of the land of Palestine used to belong to the Arab people of Palestine and was confiscated by Israel to make use of the products of that land and deny its use to the Arab refugees and the Palestinian people? He declared that Israel had committed the Russians against the Arab countries and that she should not be rewarded by being permitted to "obtain the very objective it sought to obtain by this aggression, particularly in 1956 in respect to the Suez canal."

This is a very difficult problem but the Arab Republic should recall that it was saved from the French, the British and Israeli aggression through the efforts of the United States and the United Nations in 1956 and that it now is misusing the facility that was restored to its control. The pressure that was put upon these nations to desist in 1956 should now be pointed toward the United Arab Republic in the hope of getting it to restore the canal to its place as an international waterway open to all on equal terms.

The Unseeing Drivers

Minnesota's driver license examiners gave free eye tests to 14,229 visitors at the Minnesota State Fair. Only 10,957 of those examined had driver licenses although all of them apparently were of driving age.

Of those tested, 1,008 failed to meet the standard of 20-40 vision required for the issuance of unrestricted driver licenses. Only 4,272 of those with driver licenses or 39 per cent ever had taken an examination for a driver's license. The others had been licensed more than 12 years ago when there was no examination for drivers.

Most of the drivers who had defective vision were unaware that their eyes were failing, yet their present licenses permit them to continue to drive and to get license renewals without examinations. Harry Sieben, Minnesota state safety director, says the report indicates a clear need for a reexamination program for renewal of driver licenses in Minnesota.

This probably is true everywhere. But a very few states really have seriously settled down to the business of requiring automobile drivers to be physically fit. One reason for this is that such a law is not necessarily effective. Refusing a driver's license to an individual does not insure that he or she will not drive a car. There are many drivers on the road without licenses. When they are discovered it is usually in connection with an accident and then it may be too late to help the state's safety record.

Reports Jewry Dying in Russia

New York — (AP) — "To all intents and purposes the Jewish community of Russia no longer exists," Will Maslow, general counsel of the American Jewish congress, recently reported.

Maslow, who led a group of 25 AJC leaders on a tour of Russia last month, reported to the Congress: "The sole remnant of a once-great Jewish community consists of a few solitary synagogues attended by a handful of old men and women, and within 20 years or less even these will be gone. This is the bitter fruit of the Soviet effort to obliterate or g a n i z e d Jewry in the U.S.S.R."

Former Governor On College Staff

Bethany, W. Va. — (AP) — C. William O'Neill, past governor of Ohio, has been named professor of public affairs at Bethany College.

Dr. Perry E. Gresham, president of the Disciples of Christ school, said O'Neill will deliver a series of 18 lectures on political science to the entire student body at Bethany during the second semester of the 1959-60 school year. The series is part of the college's new program to stress both theoretical political science and practical politics, Dr. Gresham said.

What Others are Saying

From The Sacramento, Calif., Bee

The nation's steel strike drags on with its pyramiding costs in lost pay checks and steel tonnage, and prospects still look woefully bleak for an early settlement. Even President Dwight D. Eisenhower, he of the hands off policy, is beginning to indicate concern. He should. Already the strike is the longest in steel in the nation's history.

In a letter to both the steel industry and the striking workers Eisenhower urged "intensive, uninterrupted good faith" bargaining. Half hearted bargaining, he said, is not half good enough.

The question well might be asked: Why did he not move aggressively in the beginning to produce a settlement? He refused even to name a fact finding committee, fundamental in a dispute of this magnitude, so rigidly has he pursued a course of nonintervention.

Neither Can Win Neither side can "win" this kind of a strike.

Observers are predicting the union will settle for a wage increase of around 10 cents an hour. But to get that 10 cents it so far has cost each striker approximately $1,000. Collectively, that adds up to around $500,000,000. And if the strike were to end tomorrow it would take the average worker five years to recoup his losses.

The industry is beginning to feel the pinch, too. It is sacrificing profits on the production of some 300,000 tons of steel a day.

And what about the third party, the public, ignored so far by both steel and labor in this slug it out Donnybrook? Every day the strike drags on additional hundreds in allied industries are idled. And business already is beginning to bid for dwindling surpluses in steel, a condition which breeds still new strata of inflation into the economy.

Look Around Labor and management would be wise to look around them and to listen for the swelling echoes of impatience heard on every side. For all of its instinctive reluctance to interfere with management or labor in industrial strife, the public is tiring of assuming the role of the goat. In the end it is the public which has to pick up the tab; this gives it some voice.

It is weary of a labor movement which has come to use its strike weapon indiscriminately. It is weary of industries which still hold to the ancient view trade unionism is inherently evil and therefore something to weaken and destroy. It is weary of scandals and graft and corruption, of under the table payoffs.

The only answer — the only fair, reasonable answer — is compulsory arbitration in any strike severe enough to impair the economy and affect the public welfare. Compulsory arbitration's greatest recommendation is that facts, not emotions, guide decisions. This may be why both labor and industry oppose it. And the fact both sides oppose it may be still another recommendation for it.

Looking Backward

Fire at Hub and Spoke Factory

79 YEARS AGO Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Oct. 2, 1880.

The fire alarm on Wednesday morning was caused by the burning of the warehouse attached to Mr. Kreiss' hub and spoke factory on the Fourth Ward water power. When discovered, shortly after 8 o'clock, flames were bursting through the building and in a few moments it was a sheet of flames.

The fire department was on hand as soon as possible, but the fire had attained so much progress that it was found impossible to do more than save some of the stock therein stored. It was in badly damaged condition, practically worthless, except as wood.

The theory is that the fire started from sparks from a passing locomotive, trains having passed within a few feet of the building.

Mr. Kreiss will rebuild as a matter of course.

Asks Change In School Bus Laws

Editor, Post-Crescent:

To Mrs. Wilbur Troge for your letter in Post-Crescent, Sept. 18, in regard to school bus restrictions: Thank you and God bless you. You stated very well the injustice of the school bus law as it now stands.

A few years ago a referendum was submitted to the voters of Wisconsin which would have remedied this situation. It was voted down overwhelmingly.

I believe that many people are still of the opinion that allowing children who attend parochial schools to ride on public school buses, which their parents support, would be a violation of the "Separation of Church and

Byrnes Says Nixon To Enter State Primary

Madison — Political potpourri:

Politicians will ponder well the remark of Rep. John W. Byrnes of Green Bay that he is confident that Vice President Richard Nixon will enter the Wisconsin presidential preference primary next spring.

Wyngaard

There is no person in Wisconsin more likely to know Mr. Nixon's mind than his old friend of the Wisconsin delegation.

Whatever Gov. Nelson recommends in the way of higher salaries for the state colleges and universities so urgently asked by their managements, the legislature is extremely unlikely to approve them, according to reports from both sides of the political aisle there, when State." How can enlightened people still reason that way? We should write to our legislators at Madison and ask to have this law amended.

Phone Use Law Has Big Loophole

Editor, Post-Crescent:

You will find attached this clipping telling about this so-called good law about party line subscribers which in my mind is like a lot of laws we have on paper that are not of much use unless the people are able to make use of it. Since this law was passed I read quite a few articles about it but nowhere have I found out how to make use of it. If your party line is busy you are unable to call either your emergency number or the operator. Unless the party using the line wants to give his or her name how are you to find out who to punish? Please tell me!

Arthur Nault

Neenah

(The Wisconsin Telephone company also is puzzled about enforcement. In the case of a 2-party line the offender would be known. In the case of a 4-party line a house might be destroyed before enough conversation would give a clue to identity of offender. But the law is always a threat. — ED.)

the recessed session is opened in November. Legislators are represented as feeling that the eight per cent boosts authorized last spring should stand for a while.

TOO YOUTHFUL?

The youthful appearance of Gov. Nelson's immediate staff is exciting curious comment. After a recent Democratic session at which some of the youngsters spoke, one of the party faithful wrote this space to inquire about their ages and are they really as young as they appear to be?

There is one report that Gov. Nelson will ask the legislature to revise the rate tables of the normal individual income tax when the lawmakers reconvene this fall, and will sweeten the proposal by asking for a reduction in the present individual income surtax rate from 25 to 10 per cent. It would be an ingenious measure, although there will be critics who will be suspicious that a "temporary" revision of the rates will in fact turn out to be permanent changes and will shy off as a consequence.

One of the dubious fiscal propositions now before the board of state government operations is that of the University of Wisconsin hospitals to meet their deficit by raising patient rates from $25 to $27. The deficit results from a severe shortage of patients. Can more patients be attracted by raising the charges? Nobody really thinks so.

TAX TALK HURTS

Some prescient Democratic politicians are worrying that their cause is being hurt because the statehouse news this year has been virtually keyed on tax problems and the prospect of tax increases. The new administration should once in a while have something cheerful to confide to the voters who put it in office, they tell themselves.

The climate is currently extremely favorable for the vocational schools of the state. More of the state's policymakers are aware of the changing functions of the schools and that they are now in fact performing as the "junior colleges" that are familiar to other states of the country. Watch for legislation in the fall to change their official designation to give recognition to their changed roles in the educational system.

One of the reasons why Milwaukee county generally has a legislative delegation of less punch and quality than its size might warrant is the fact that its representatives regard other local offices as more desirable. Time after time they have got a foothold in politics by standing for the legislature, and then run for the county board or city council. Robert Curley, one of the best of the Milwaukee freshmen this year, is now planning to run for the county board in the spring.

Glaucoma, Eye Disease, Often Termed Sneak Thief of Sight

By Carl N. Neupert, M. D., State Health Officer

The "sneak thief of sight." This is the apt term some times used to describe glaucoma, an eye disease that often causes blindness among persons over 40 years of age.

The reason for this unflattering description is that glaucoma usually causes no pain, and the gradual narrowing of the field of vision that accompanies it is not noticed until it reaches advanced stages. Some estimates claim that as many as one million persons—or two per cent of the U. S. population over 40—have the disease without knowing it.

Yet, despite this incidence and despite the fact that glaucoma is the leading cause of blindness acquired after the age of 40, its progress can be checked and the often-resulting blindness prevented.

Glaucoma occurs when the jelly-like fluid within the eyeball is under increased pressure. This pressure destroys the nerve fibers connecting the eyeball to the brain. As these fibers are destroyed, the person's range of vision gradually becomes narrower; sometimes complete blindness results.

Pain in Eye

The condition is often accompanied by pain in the eye (often thought to be an ordinary headache), an inability to adjust the eyes to darkened rooms, blurred or foggy vision or a loss of side vision, and rainbow-colored rings or halos around lights.

These symptoms call for prompt medical treatment if the disease is to be controlled. Although the method of control varies, it generally involves the use of drugs and it must be continuous. Sometimes surgery is necessary.

The best defense against glaucoma is periodic eye examinations because in most cases the early symptoms are so mild many persons ignore them. Regular examinations are especially important for persons over 40; most specialists recommend one every two years.

Proper and early diagnosis, treatment and care are thus our best insurance against this "sneak thief of sight." With them goes the promise of productive and sight-retaining lives for many of our growing numbers of potential glaucoma victims.

President's Move Succeeded in Opening Clogged East-West Talk

BY WALTER LIPPMANN

The first round being concluded, one can say, I think, that the president's initiative has prospered. His main purpose in proposing the exchange of visits was to re-open the clogged channels of diplomatic communication between the western alliance and the Soviet Union. This he has done, and this is the meaning and the significance of the conversations at Camp David.

There are to be exchanges through normal diplomatic channels. When our allies have been consulted about the place, the time, and the agenda, there will be a foreign ministers' meeting and a summit meeting. There are to be continuing multi-lateral negotiations about nuclear testing and about disarmament. There are to be bi-lateral negotiations about cultural exchanges and also about a settlement of the lend-lease debts. And beyond all these, there is to be in the spring a visit by the president and his family to the Soviet Union.

This much is on the record. How far there was a meeting of minds off the record on the specific issues, we do not now know. But Mr. K. in his press conference on Sunday implied that there had been more understandings than the official communique reveals. This is in a way confirmed by the fact that the president has agreed to an elaborate and extended series of negotiations, something he would not have done had the talks at Camp David become irreconcilably deadlocked.

Pleasant Surprise

Having been one of those who were filled with misgivings about the venture in personal diplomacy, and also about the risks of accidents and incidents in Mr. K.'s public tour, the result of round one is a pleasant surprise.

I can see now that I had failed to realize how mighty are the compulsions which are working on both the president and on Mr. K. They are compulsions to find ways by which, as the communique said, "all outstanding international questions" can be settled not by the application of force but by peaceful means through negotiations. For neither of the heads of governments is there, to use the memorable sentence spoken by Eisenhower some years ago, "any alternative to peace."

The source of these compulsions is the race of armaments. As between the U. S. S. R. and the U. S. A. there exists a balance of power in the sense that any war, however limited it might be when it began, would threaten to become a total war. Each of the two governments is able to inflict intolerable and unacceptable losses upon the other's country, and neither could win a war which caused such widespread, such long lasting, and such irreparable devastation. Although the balance of power may fluctuate, there is at present no prospect whatever of the kind of scientific breakthrough which would give one or the other of the governments a safe and reliable supremacy.

This exerts a mighty compulsion upon them to respect the status quo, whether it be that of the western presence in West Berlin or that of the Soviet presence in eastern Europe. The agreement to open up a series of negotiations rests upon the applied assumption that while diplomacy cannot change importantly the status quo, it can make it more acceptable and more viable.

Two Considerations

In both governments the compulsion to attempt to do this springs from two great considerations.

The first consideration, which is widely recognized, is that the cost of armaments, 40 billions here and 25 billions in the Soviet Union, is a very heavy mortgage on social and economic development. One of the most interesting little disclosures made by Mr. K. was his personal impatience with the burdens of his own military establishment.

Eisenhower is very conscious indeed of what it means to spend 40 billions a year. And undoubtedly he is aware of the fact that after the tax reduction made by his administration, the pressure on the budget from the Pentagon on the one hand, from the civil needs of our people on the other, constitute a permanent threat to inflation. Moreover, the pressure on the dollar, which is no joke, comes in some part from our enormous military expenditures abroad

President Eisenhower and Treasury officials hold a dummy "bond" to mark a rise in the interest rate of Series E savings bonds to 3 and 3/4 per cent. Treasury Sec. Robert Anderson is at left and James Stiles, director of the savings bond division, is at center. The "H" bond rate also has gone to 3 and 3/4 per cent.

both for our allies and for ourselves. One high European authority estimates them at 10 billions annually, which is about half of our gold reserve. But there is a second consideration which exerts great compulsion on the heads of governments. It is that if the situation does not get better, it will get much worse. If the big new tax bite taken out of private enterprise and out of private consumption. With these compulsions working upon them, the president and Mr. K. have staked so much on these exchanges that they cannot afford to let them fail.

Q. My husband and I were raising our grandchild whose parents are deceased. This child is 10 and we had him since age four. We never adopted the child and my husband died three months ago. I am having a difficult time making ends meet. Can I receive anything for this child?

A. Yes. If you adopt your grandchild within two years after death or before August 23, 1960, whichever is later, you can receive payments for this child since you were all living together when your husband died.

Q. My husband is age 60 and I am 58. He is bedfast and we are almost sure that he will never work again. Our son is 21, but has been disabled severely since birth. Can we receive any social security?

A. If your husband has worked under social security for at least five out of the 10 years before he became disabled, he should apply immediately for disability payments. Cash benefits can also be paid to your adult, disabled son. If your son is in your care, that is, if he requires your constant attention for his daily needs, you, too, should claim benefits.

A. Yes. Prior to September, 1958, there was a requirement that the adoption had to be in existence one year prior to the death. The 1958 amendments eliminated this time requirement. You, as well as the child, may now be able to get monthly payments if the child is now in your care.

Q. My husband and I adopted a 9-year-old child six months ago. Last month my husband was killed in an automobile accident. Are there any benefits payable in our case?

A. Yes. Prior to September, 1958, there was a requirement that the adoption had to be in existence one year prior to the death. The 1958 amendments eliminated this time requirement. You, as well as the child, may now be able to get monthly payments if the child is now in your care.

Injuries May Hamper Ghosts

Ted Kavanaugh Will Miss Game At Two Rivers

Kaukauna — Injuries to key players may hamper the Kaukauna High school football team in its Mid-Eastern conference game at Two Rivers Friday night.

Three Ghosts were hurt in the tilt with Neenah last week, one not expected to play and the other two may see limited action.

Good news for the Ghosts was the return of Jerry Heindel for duty. The letterman was hurt in preseason practice and has not seen any action this season.

Defensive safety Ted Kavanaugh will miss the Two Rivers game because of a leg injury. Coach Fred Barribeau said that either Jim Martzahl or Ron DeBruox will take Kavanaugh's place.

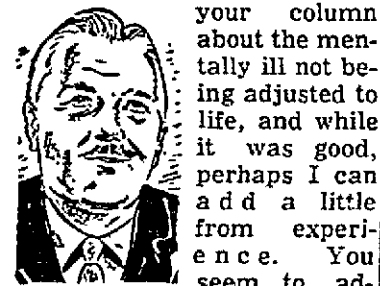

Quarterback Bruce Bay and halfback Bruce Ludke were hurt in the rain-soaked game with Neenah but will be ready for the game Friday.

Kaukauna has a 1-1 record for the season. The Ghosts beat Sheboygan North in a non-conference tilt and lost to Neenah, 7 to 0 last week in a M-E game.

To Your Good Health

Rejection of Accepted Ideas Does Not Indicate Insanity

By Joseph G. Molner, M. D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I read your column about the mentally ill not being adjusted to life, and while it was good, perhaps I can add a little from experience. You seem to advocate that if anyone doesn't go along with the crowd, or espouses anything that isn't orthodox, he is crazy. —A. H."

Thank you for your letter. I cut it short, but the gist of your communication remains. You have misunderstood me. Either that or you are very courteously asking me for a further explanation. I suspect the latter to be the case.

No, being sane does not mean going along with the crowd, or being orthodox in every belief. You know, and I know, that this is not the case.

What I said in that previous column was that, for practical purposes, we say that a person who cannot get along in society—I repeat: a person who cannot get along in society—because of an emotional quirk, is mentally ill and needs treatment.

Getting along does not mean total agreement.

Columbus didn't agree with the long-accepted notion that he would go over the edge if he kept sailing west on a flat ocean. Or, for perhaps a better example, the Wright brothers didn't accept the notion that it was impossible for man to create a machine that would fly through the air. There are billions of other examples, some big, some small.

Right to Disagree

But to go on with the Wright brothers, they didn't slide off into a dream world because they disagreed with current thought. Anyone has a right to disagree—but if his response to disagreement is to refuse to accept facts, or to imagine that he is right and everyone else is picking on him, or to refuse to talk, or eat (these symptoms occur in real mental illness) then the problem has become something beyond mere disagreement.

Everyone who has had a new idea has disagreed with the accepted notions of the past. Yet these people with new ideas have seen the world through clear eyes. They have not retreated into imaginary worlds, just because their new ideas did not agree with the old ones. They went ahead and proved that their new ideas were valid.

Disagreeing is no sign of mental illness. Recognizing the disagreement, and accepting facts as facts, is, on the contrary, a sign of mental health.

Bed wetting can be conquered. To learn how, write to me in care of this newspaper requesting a copy of my book, "Enuresis—Ten Ways To Stop Bed Wetting," and enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover handling.

From its clean-thrusting grille to its dapper rear deck, there's so much that's new and different about this superlative Chevrolet it stands out from the rest like a fresh-minted coin. And you'll be just as wide-eyed over what's inside—the relaxing roominess, tasteful trim, hushed elegance of its new Body by Fisher, all comfortably cradled by Full Coil springs at all four wheels. Yet, sumptuous as this new Chevy is, it's got all the thrifty virtues that make it unmistakably a Chevrolet—with new economy of operation, new dependability, new longer life. Here, then, we're confident both you and your budget will joyously agree, is the nearest to perfection a low-priced car ever came!

Here's the car that introduces a whole new decade of design—with so much that's new and different the others can only hope to come close.

It's the superlative '60 Chevrolet—with new space inside, new spirit under the hood, new splendor in every clean-etched line.

Freshly shaped contours rake back from the unified new grille to the jaunty rear deck, fitted with craftsmanship you'd expect only on the most expensive makes. Inside, the solidly built new Body by Fisher surrounds you with finely tailored fabrics and spacious elegance. There's room to sprawl in, room to sit tall in—generously provided by Chevy's sofa-wide seats and extra margin of hat space. And there's even more leg room for the man in the middle—thanks to the way Chevrolet engineers have shaved down the transmission tunnel.

Out on the road, as Chevy's Full Coil ride will persuade you most gently, there's not a car near the price that comes close to the hushed comfort of this one. Adding to your sense of silence and solidity are thicker, newly designed rubber body mounts that do an even more efficient job of isolating road shock and noise.

Quiet, quick-responding power is provided by a choice of two standard engines—Chevy's famed Hi-Thrift 6 and a new Economy Turbo-Fire V8 that gets up to 10% more miles out of a gallon of regular while delivering greater engine torque at normal speeds. There's also a choice of five other V8's and five transmissions, to assure the exact power combination to satisfy the itch in your driving foot. Chevy's accent on comfort and convenience even extends back to its easier-to-load luggage compartment. You'll also find a convenient new parking brake that automatically returns to normal height after application, a new clutch linkage that filters out engine impulses more effectively than ever and new two-toning motif available on all 16 fresh-minted models.

But, impressive as all this may look in print, there's really only one way to tell how near to perfection this superlative '60 Chevrolet actually comes . . . and that's to drop in on your dealer and drive one!

Prospects Brighten Since Labor Day

BY SAM DAWSON

New York —(AP)— Business moves into the final quarter of the year today feeling better than it did Labor day.

True, the same uncertainties exist today as then, but many of them now show at least partial solutions. In others a solution seems in sight. The main ones are:

1. The international situation. President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev say the Berlin crisis is no longer running on a time table. Business interprets this to mean that further trouble has been put off at least until spring when the grandchildren of the two most powerful men in the world get together in Moscow. There's hope that before then their grandparents will have reached agreement.

2. The steel strike. Its effects will last well into the last three months of the year for many companies using steel. When President Eisenhower called the two sides on the carpet, businessmen decided that the end couldn't be too far off.

3. The stock market. Neither its ups or downs have been too convincing of late, but it is expected to react to the business atmosphere — that is, optimistic when business is and pessimistic when business stresses the uncertainties.

4. The consumer. Except in strike areas he continues to buy and when he can't pay cash to borrow.

Once more there are economic omists to assure us that "the U. S. economy now is depression proof."

The latest is a former member of President Eisenhower's council of economic advisers, Dr. Neil H. Jacoby, now dean of the graduate School of Business Administration at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Weaknesses Gone He says the serious weaknesses of 1929 don't exist today and that we have built into the economy automatic stabilizers which give the unemployed and the retired the means to keep on spending.

Washington seems more worried at the moment about what might result from the boom expected after the steel strike ends. It fears that this might set off another flurry of price rises before the year ends.

So it is trying two remedies before the disease strikes. One is the tight money policy. The other is the balanced federal budget.

A Part of the Kimberlares chapter of Sweet Adelines, Inc., women's barber-shop chorus, practices for its first show, "The Belles are Singing," scheduled for 8 p.m. Saturday at the Menasha High school. Several quarters, including the Midstates Four and Fox Cities area units, will sing.

Business isn't too sure that the budget can be kept in balance. It worries about the brake which tight credit might exert on the poststrike economy.

Business entirely free of uncertainities belongs mostly to the never-never land.

The predictions now coming forth on the trend of business in the final three months of the year are largely on the optimistic side.

First the steel strike must end. After that many manufacturers predict they'll have record production and sales.

Merchants mostly look for their best Christmas trade ever. Auto makers paint glowing pictures of the sales outlook for their new models and their entirely new lines.

The export situation looks

LeVee Granted Edison School Design Job

Will Have Sketches Ready by February; To Build in Spring

Architect Raymond N. LeVee was granted the contract to design a new Edison school after two hours of discussion by the board of education in committee of the whole.

Three other Appleton architectural firms were considered.

LeVee, who designed the Lincoln and Madison buildings, said he could have sketches and specifications ready for bidding in February, with construction to begin in late spring. The school should be ready by Sept. 1, 1961.

A building committee already is working on specifications for the architect, telling him what is expected in the building. Committee members are Miss Charlotte Klemm, Edison principal; Miss Olga Heller, teacher; James Retson, former Edison less bright. Even there Americans are beginning to talk of revival based on American salesmanship and better products.

The fourth quarter has a lot to live up to.

Meat Packaging Machine Made By Appleton Man

A packing machine designed and built by an Appleton man has been purchased by one of the country's largest meat packing companies.

Edward Mischke, 1418 W. Packard street, said he worked three years developing and building the machine, which will be used to package sliced salami for the Swift company.

Mischke, a partner in Central Machine and Engineering company, built the machine at the shop and patented it as the E. M. Wallet Pac machine.

Mischke says the machine will package 15 to 60 cartons of meat a minute, depending on how it is fed. The completed packages will be the envelope type, similar to the packages in which sliced bacon is sold.

Other companies are also interested in the machine, he said, since the envelope package is the cheapest to produce and is good for display purposes.

principal and principal of Huntley school; Miss Martha Sorensen, director of elementary education; and Supt. of Schools John P. Mann.

The committee's specifications must be approved by the board before being turned over to the architect. His sketches also must be approved before specifications and final drawings are made. Then bids are let and the common council is petitioned to provide needed funds.

LeVee talked Monday night of constructing a U-shaped building of two stories, with the second story forming a complete square, and providing a small covered yard between the arms of the U. The base of the U would face north, with the courtyard opening into the playground to the south.

2 Acres of Playground The architect said his project would not extend south of the present north boundary of E. Eldorado street, giving about 2 acres of play space, not including parking lots and lawn.

The building would contain a gymnasium, 18 classrooms for 600 students and other rooms specified by the committee.

LeVee thought the structure might cost about $12.50 a square foot, an increase of nearly $1 over his last building, Madison school, which cost $11.52 a square foot. He blamed the steel strike for increased costs.

The Edison site, he said, requires a compact school, utilizing as much of a second story as possible. He said the U-shape is about the most compact shape, although he emphasized many changes probably will be made before the sketches are complete.

Frat Death Accidental Jury Says

California College Student Choked on Oil Soaked Liver

Los Angeles —(AP)— "There was a table covered with a sheet. On it was a tray of raw liver. There was another tray with raw brains. In between the trays was a pig's head we call 'Charlie.' Candles burned at either end."

This was the grisly scene in a fraternity house just before a student choked to death trying to swallow a piece of the liver during initiation.

Fellow University of Southern California students Tuesday told a coroner's jury what happened the night of Sept. 17 when Richard Swanson, 21, died. The jury decided death was accidental and no one was criminally responsible.

Scene Described Dan Hayes, president of Kappa Sigma fraternity, described the scene in the fraternity house and then testified:

"The pledges were told there were certain things they had to do and they were told about this test in which they were to eat the liver."

"He (Swanson) attempted to chew the piece of liver and tried two or three times to swallow it before he finally got it down. He immediately began gasping for air. We began hitting him on the back, trying to make him swallow it or cough it up."

Ambulance attendants Robert Loven and Nathan Rubin testified they were told Swanson had suffered a seizure and that there was no mention that he had swallowed something.

Hayes denied this, saying the ambulance men were told, "He has a piece of meat stuck in his throat."

Railroad Reports August Revenues Off From Last Year

The August gross revenue of Wisconsin Central Railroad was $2,654,251, a drop from $2,911,366 in August last year. The decline resulted in a net loss, after taxes and fixed and contingent charges, amounting to $145,655, compared to an income of $386,262 in August last year.

For the eight months ended Aug. 31, Wisconsin Central had gross revenue of $22,174,251, compared to $20,982,964 at the same time last year. Despite the increase, the net loss was greater, $373,694, compared to $246,744.

THE REVOLUTIONARY Corvair BY CHEVROLET

There's nothing like a new car—and no compact car like this de luxe Corvair 700.

Here's the car created to conquer a new field — Chevrolet's low-priced compact Corvair: The product of nine years of research and development, it's America's first truly compact car that retains the ride and 6-passenger comfort you're used to in a big one.

The key to this small miracle: America's only rear-mounted aluminum engine—a lightweight 6 that's so revolutionary it can be packaged with the transmission and drive gears as one compact unit.

With the engine in the rear, the Corvair's floor is virtually flat, front and rear, so there's plenty of foot room for everybody. Combined with Corvair's unique body-frame construction by Fisher, this provides interior spaciousness comparable to many postwar conventional-sized cars.

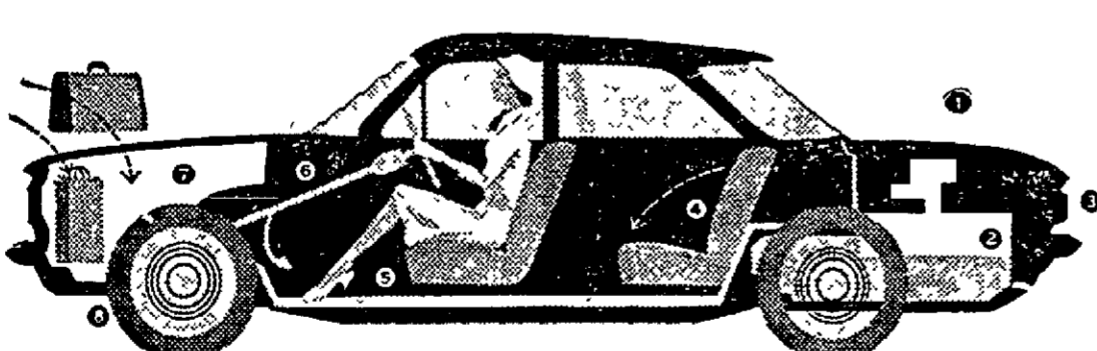

Shifting engine weight to the rear also makes for easier compact car handling and gives glued-to-the-road traction on ice, mud or snow. And with independent suspension at all 4 wheels—an advance comparable to the independent suspension of front wheels years ago—you get a poised, unruffled ride that rivals even the costliest cars.

These are all things no front-engine compact car can give you. And with them you get outstanding economy and practicality that would never have been possible if Chevrolet engineers had been content to make the Corvair merely a sawed-off version of a big car. Corvair's size—some 5 inches lower, 2½ feet shorter and 1,300 pounds lighter than conventional sedans—makes it a joy to jockey through busy streets, a pleasure to park (no need for power assists): Its revolutionary Turbo-Air 6 gets up to 30% more miles on a gallon of regular. And, because the engine's air cooled, you never have to fuss with antifreeze, you get quicker warmup (even heat for passengers comes—almost instantly—from an airplane-type heater*). Wonderfully practical, yes. But you'll find the most practical thing of all about Corvair is its remarkably low price: Your dealer's the man to see for all the short, sweet details:

America's only car with independent suspension at all 4 wheels!

America's only car with an air-cooled aluminum engine!

The engine's in the rear where it belongs in a compact car!

1 REVOLUTIONARY TURBO-AIR 6

Gets up to 30% more miles on a gallon, needs no antifreeze, provides quicker warmup with less wear on parts. It's the world's first production 6 with the ultra-smooth, space-saving power of horizontally opposed (not vertical or V-stroke) pistons.

Dr. Dooley to Cross Country Three Times

Cancer Patient Schedules Exhausting Tour, Including Two Appleton Talks Oct. 16

Dr. Thomas A. Dooley III, cancer patient and medical benefactor of Red-threatened Laos, will cross the continent three times on his tour that will bring him to Appleton Friday, Oct. 16.

Dooley now is in Hawaii on a speaking tour, while recovering from a near-fatal cancer operation. His mother, in St. Louis, said he has responded "miraculously" from surgery for chest cancer. Extensive skin grafts have somewhat hampered his physical movements, but he is active as ever, she said.

Dr. Dooley will return to the mainland early this month, speaking in Minneapolis and St. Paul Oct. 14 and 15, in Appleton twice on Oct. 16, in New York City on Oct. 18, and in Texas a few days later. He will tour the south, then return to New York and the west coast before he leaves for Laos.

Extensive Program An exhausting program has been tentatively planned for Dooley in Appleton, despite his recent operation.

He is expected either Thursday evening or Friday morning. An early morning press conference may be held before the 8:30 a.m. luncheon at the Conway hotel at noon. A book autographing session is being arranged for late in the afternoon, and a dinner with Lawrence college students has been scheduled tentatively. At 8:30 p.m. he will appear in Lawrence chapel. Tickets for the evening speech are $1.

The talk was rescheduled from 8 to 8:30 p.m., to give listeners a chance to do downtown errands earlier.

Ticket Sales Tickets for the noon luncheon are available from committee members and at meetings of all Appleton service clubs next week. Speech tickets also may be obtained at the meetings and beginning Monday at the H. C. Prange company, First National bank, Appleton State bank, Outagamie County bank, the Conway hotel, Conkey's Book store and the Post-Crescent Appleton office. Proceeds from both events will be given to Dooley's Medico fund, which supports hospitals in underprivileged areas. Medico is non-denominational and non-governmental. Dooley has established two hospitals in Laos, the tiny Oriental country now threatened by communism. Both of them have been turned over to the Laotian government, and Dooley has returned to the United States to seek more funds for more hospitals.

Since 1954, he has been the only regular medical doctor in the country, except the minister of health.

New London Man Did Not Admit Battery Count

Guy R. Siegel, 68, Washington street, New London, charged with aggravated battery, did not admit beating his brother-in-law and was not placed on probation for a year as stated in Wednesday's editions of the Post-Crescent.

The Post-Crescent regrets the error. Siegel's preliminary hearing was held Monday in municipal court. Judge Oscar J. Schmiegge, after hearing testimony, ruled that an offense had been committed and that there was notable cause to believe that Siegel was guilty. The defendant was bound over for reading of the information on Oct. 27.

The complaint was signed by Siegel's sister, Mrs. Isabelle Sells, of rural New London. She charged aggravated battery, alleging the defendant put her husband, Jasper, in New London Community hospital Aug. 16 with head and body injuries inflicted with a rock. Siegel denies it. Sells and his wife testified at the preliminary hearing, but Siegel did not take the stand.

Gasoline Tax Hike Results in Moderate 'Rush'

The 1-cent boost in gasoline prices which went into effect this morning caused a moderate rush to the pumps for a full tank by motorists Wednesday afternoon and evening.

Most station operators in the Fox Cities reported it was similar to a pay-day rush. Most said between 150 and 400 extra gallons were pumped Wednesday.

The increase was brought about when the federal government increased the tax on gasoline a penny, effective today.

Despite reports there is an expected drop in bulk rate prices for gasoline, no announcement of a price change has been made.

Humphrey Ends Visit to Wisconsin

Talks to Labor Leaders; Little Sign He's Made Much Progress

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota today finished another anxious expedition: To Wisconsin in support of his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination, with few signs that he has made real progress toward his goal of controlling the Wisconsin delegation to the party's nominating convention next year.

Humphrey wound up a rapid-fire 5-day tour of the state with a speech to Madison labor leaders last night, amid the haunting realization that one real and another potential candidate are serious rivals for the affections of Wisconsin Democrats.

They are Sen. John Kennedy, the Massachusetts entry into the presidential sweepstakes, and Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, the nominee of 1952 and 1956, who appears to most politicians hereabouts to be an undeclared candidate for a third nominee.

Kennedy Strong
Most Madison Democrat politicians, including those who are close to the state party organization, appear to believe that Kennedy is the strongest candidate, and Humphrey is a serious contender in a Wisconsin presidential primary because he could turn over his delegates to Stevenson when his candidacy collapses at a convention.

Humphrey spoke here last night to about 400 persons. In most normal situations, that is a good crowd.

The meeting was well promoted, but there were empty seats in the Labor Temple auditorium, which is not usual for this politically conscious capital city. The audiprograms and expenditures in all directions.

"The sad fact is we are letting our national plant run down. Our economy is growing, but we are devoting a smaller proportion of it to those public purposes, that public investment, that makes a nation and a people not only rich, but great and strong," he said.

There was polite but modest applause as Humphrey, noted as a spell-binder, continued.

"A conservative government finds itself incapable of appreciating or understanding the full meaning of the political, economic and social revolution that is underway throughout the world, and indeed has been under way in many parts of the world for the last two generations.

The conservative government sees the problems, but never comes up with the answers. It is more concerned with traditions and institutions of government, than it is about the people that government is designed to serve."

Humphrey was introduced by Gov. Nelson who is maintaining his policy of strict neutrality in the up-coming Wisconsin struggle for presidential nominating delegates in spite of strenuous pressures from all sides.

School children are shuffling through piles of yellowed leaves accented with red on their way to school. Cool weather, no rain and clear nights have kept autumn in the Fox Cities.

Rockefeller Looks Hard at Wisconsin

New York Backers Check State For Support in Spring Primary

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — Ranking New York politicians are making inquiries about Wisconsin support for potential presidential candidacy of Republican Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

But they are troubled about finding supporters representative of the Republican viewpoint and of sufficient stature to compete with the line-up of local leaders supporting Vice President Richard Nixon.

Discreet checking has turned up relatively few leaders that would encourage an organization here for a Rockefeller campaign. If the New York executive decides he wants to try the Wisconsin primary next spring.

No Announcement
The governor has declined to say he is interested in the nomination, but he has been careful to keep himself in a position to run if events show some chance of garnering delegates at Chicago.

Emissaries of the New Yorker have learned that Wisconsin Republicans are overwhelmingly friendly to the cause of Nixon.

The abrupt change of heart of Rep. Alvin O'Konski, Mercer, on a Rockefeller campaign is being used to illustrate the organization feeling. O'Konski had let it be known he was willing to run a Rockefeller boom here. But within days he put out another announcement saying he would be too busy with other matters. The explanation is, according to numerous accounts, that the reaction to his first announcement among Republicans was so hostile that he was persuaded to change his plans.

Meanwhile some leading organization men of the Wisconsin GOP are becoming mortally curious about Nixon's plans for the Wisconsin primary. As far as is known, he has not discussed the Wisconsin election with any top men of the Wisconsin GOP.

It is conceded the Nixon effort here is likely to be entrusted to such old friends as Reps. John W. Byrnes of Green Bay, Melvin R. Laird of Marshfield and former Rep. Glenn Davis of Waukesha.

"But he cannot afford to take us for granted," said one GOP organization stalwart who said he had found a similar reaction in other midwestern states.

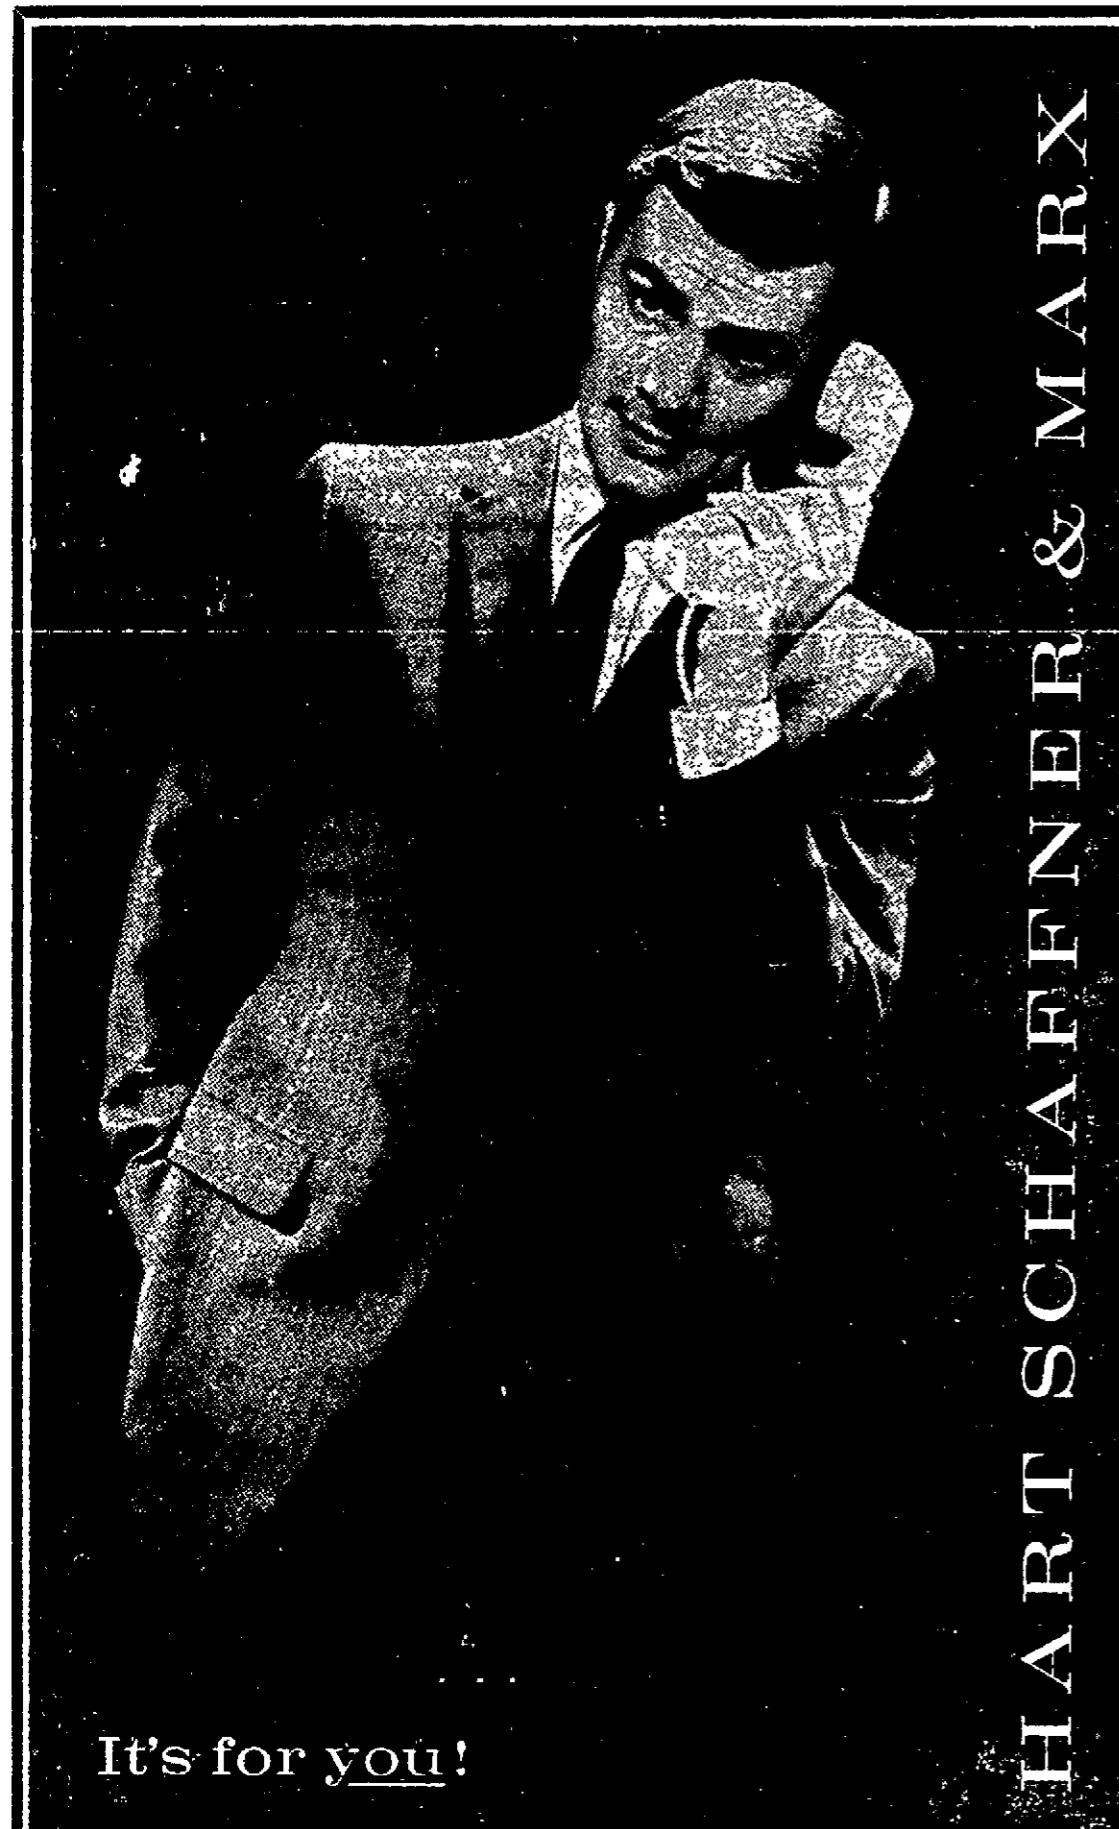

A Nixon slate here would probably contain most of the principal Republican spokesmen in Wisconsin.

The Simplest Meal Can become a very special occasion when a bit of ingenuity goes into food preparation. A fine example is Creamed Ham in a Corn Bread Ring, easily and quickly prepared with corn bread mix and leftover ham.

These Hearty Open-Faced sandwiches are quickly assembled and placed under the broiler for a few minutes to provide a nourishing lunch that combines asparagus spears, cheese and ham slices. To make: spread slices of bread with mustard. On each piece, place a slice of boiled ham, three asparagus spears and grated cheese. Pop under broiler at low heat until cheese melts.

Lesson on Sausage

It Really Isn't All Baloney No Matter How You Slice It

How many sausages can you name? Don't feel badly if your list is small because a recent survey shows that 65 per cent of the public is unfamiliar with the names beyond the standard favorites. Homemakers usually point out the loaf or links they especially like of the more than 200 varieties available.

Here is a simple summary of sausage to help you know your favorites better.

Salami (Hard)

Salami owes its origin to many European countries, where families consider it an all-purpose sausage, to eat as tidbits, to put into sandwiches, or to add (chopped) to sauces and other foods for extra flavor. Salami gets its firmness from air-drying. Rather highly seasoned and spiced, and contains just the right amount of garlic.

Salami (Cooked)

This includes the soft varieties of salami. They are made and seasoned the same way you would put into meat loaf, as the hard salamis, but are softer because they are first cooked, then air-dried for only a short time or not at all. Most of them come in larger slices and are preferred by many for sandwiches because they are less "chewy."

Thuringer

This is one of the most popular varieties of summer sausage, mildly spiced and semi-dried so that it is relatively soft. Thuringer usually is finely chopped and contains a good percentage of pork for extra juiciness. Remember the main difference between summer sausage and salami is that summer sausage contains no garlic.

Frankfurters

One of our most American sausage products, the popular "red hot" of the ball park and the beach and the "friendly frank" of the home and picnic. Big or little, frankfurters are wholesome meat, delicately seasoned, smoked and completely cooked.

Bologna

Big brother to the frankfurter. The two most common varieties are large bologna and ring bologna. A mild and pleasing combination of finely ground beef and pork. There are dozens of varieties, including beef bologna, ham bologna and veal bologna.

Liver Loaf

A product for those who want sandwich-size slices of liver sausage. Generally one of the firm varieties of liver sausage, but made in loaf shape and covered in slices of fresh, white pork fat to keep it moist. Like liver sausage, it can be used either hot or cold.

Liver Sausage

There's plenty of variety in liver sausage — all the way from the soft, light-pink Braunschweiger to the darker and firmer types of liver sausage. Delicately spiced and seasoned (sometimes smoked). All liver sausage contains the B vitamins and iron and other important nutritional values of liver.

Meat Loaf

A wide variety of loaf meats come from American sausage kitchens. They are tasty combinations of the same meats and seasonings

Gear Food Budget To Plentiful Pork

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor

Somehow Oct. 1 marks the real beginning of fall with brisk days ahead and a change in meal planning for the homemaker to meet the weather and demands of sharpened appetites . . . young fry have slipped into the routine of school again with need of wholesome lunches . . . the family turns into a hungry brood by evening time. What better time for an abundance of versatile pork!

The pork supply now coming to market is expected to be the largest in a decade . . . good news for the family cook . . . and October may see 12 per cent more pork than a year ago, the American Meat institute reports. With so many good buys in pork hocks, shoulder steaks, chops, roasts and other taste treats, adjusting to cool weather cooking can be accomplished with ease.

Bacon is an especially good buy and ham is expected to be lower in price than it has been in a number of years. Smart shoppers will find pork bargains galore.

The advantage of pork is in its variations. It takes to many different flavors. Baked ham, for instance, may be cooked with wine, cider, fruit juices or a winey marinade. Ham makes delicious leftover dishes such as today's Creamed Ham in Corn Bread Ring.

Flavor variations possible with pork chops are almost endless simply by varying the liquid used in braising the chops. Orange, pineapple and cranberry are some of the fruit juices that may be used; canned tomatoes, tomato juice, bouillon, onion soup and sour cream are other flavoring agents popular for braising pork chops and with each dish comes an entirely different flavor personality.

Marinade for Ham

Here is an excellent marinade for baked ham that combines spices with fruit juices and wine vinegar or red wine.

For a whole ham, combine one-half cup wine vinegar or dry red wine, one-fourth cup juice from canned fruit, one-fourth cup brown sugar, one tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, one-half teaspoon freshly ground pepper, one-fourth teaspoon cloves, one teaspoon dry mustard and one teaspoon ginger. After mixing well, brush on ham before baking, saving some of marinade for glazing process. A half ham takes only half the marinade.

Epicurean Baked Ham

For a real treat, try baking the ham in foil. The steps go like this: First, place ham on large sheet of heavy duty aluminum foil. Brush with marinade, working it in well. Pad bone ends with folded pieces of foil.

The ham doesn't have to be sealed with the wrap, but the foil should extend at least three inches above the top of the pan to hold juices. To wrap, bring ends of foil up until they meet and overlap by about three inches. Smooth down over sides of ham. Bring ends of foil up and press snugly to conform to shape of ham.

Place wrapped ham in shallow pan in moderately hot oven (about 400 degrees). Bake whole ham 16 minutes per pound, half ham about 18 minutes per pound.

To glaze, remove ham from oven, fold back foil and spoon out fat. Remove rind from ham, score fat in diamond pattern with sharp knife and stud with whole cloves. Brush with marinade and return ham to oven for 15 minutes to glaze. Brush with marinade once or twice during final heating.

Creamed Ham in Corn Bread

1 pkg. corn bread mix
4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
8 ounces Cheddar cheese
2 cups cooked, cubed ham
1 teaspoon pepper

Prepare corn bread batter according to package instructions. Turn batter into greased, 9-inch ring mold. Bake in 425-degree oven from 25 to 30 minutes.

While corn bread bakes, prepare creamed ham. Melt butter and stir in flour. Gradually add milk, stirring constantly. Cook until smooth. Add cheese and ham; stir until cheese melts. Add pepper.

Unmold corn bread ring on large platter. Fill center of ring with ham mixture. Circle platter with individual servings of fruit.

Pork Chop Cookery

Pork chops are easy to prepare if the rules are followed faithfully. It's important to know that pork chops never take to broiling as do other chops and steaks. The high heat dries the exterior of the chop before the inside is

A Thin Covering of Fat identifies these pork chops as new 1959 models. Braising is the recommended method of cooking the fine-flavored chops. It is accomplished easily by browning the meat, then adding a small amount of liquid and cooking slowly until chops are fork-tender.

Formosa Slides To be Shown at Church Meeting

Slides and narration of their recent trip to Formosa where they visited their daughter who is a missionary will be shown by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Zimmerman at a 6:30 p.m. Tuesday supper meeting at the First Baptist church.

The event is sponsored by the Men's council and is open to all church members. En route to Formosa the Zimmermans visited the Rev. Robert Phillip, former Appleton pastor, and his family.

School Friends Have Luncheon

Mrs. David Clark entertained at a dessert luncheon at her home, 1319 N. Division street, Wednesday, for several friends of school days. Those attending were Mrs. Esther Martins, Los Angeles, Mrs. Lola Blank, Chicago, Mrs. Emma Naegle, who is leaving Appleton to make her home in Chicago, and Mrs. John Otto, Mrs. Arthur Schiebe, Mrs. Edna Koerner, Mrs. Lena Gustin and Mrs. Albert Schroeder, all from Appleton.

Fill Tomatoes With Salad

Scoop out tiny tomatoes and turn upside down to drain. Sprinkle insides lightly with salt and pepper, then fill with a little mayonnaise to which you have added minced chives or scallions.

This Beautiful Ham, scored and clove decorated, is brushed with a flavorful marinade and baked in foil to give it epicurean flavor.

cooked, it toughens the meat and as a result ruins the flavor.

Choose chops one-half to one inch thick; use thicker chops for stuffing. Brown meat thoroughly over low heat, in a heavy skillet, turning chops to brown both sides. Use a little lard for browning the meat, or trim some of the fat from the chops and fry it out in a skillet for browning.

Season with salt and pepper. Add a small amount of water — one-fourth cup for four chops is sufficient — cover pan tightly and cook slowly on top of range or in a 325 degree oven 45 to 60 minutes. Pork chops, like all fresh pork, should be cooked thoroughly until there is no trace of pink. To test doneness, of pork chops, use a knife and slit meat at bone.

Chili powder, paprika, curry powder, oregano, sage, crushed coriander, and ground anise add interesting flavor to the cooking pork chops.

Teenager With Fickle Heart Thinks She's a Mental Case

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I'm 14 and must have a screw loose in my head. My boy friend is the most popular kid in school. He's smart, athletic and handsome. Yet there are times when I get so sick of him I want to throw him out of the house. Then I get so lonesome for him I could just die.

Last week I hated him. Today I love him like crazy. There isn't a girl in our crowd who wouldn't grab him for her steady if she had the chance. The thought of anyone getting him away from me makes me almost sick.

Am I a mental case or what? My grandfather died at 92 and toward the end he was playing with dolls. I'm worried about my sanity.—Dizzy Lizzy

Dear Lizzy: The fluctuations you describe are normal for a 14-year-old girl.

But you're too young to concentrate on any one boy —no matter how dreamy. You should be distributing your enthusiasm among many. It's much healthier to play the field and encourage the dreamboat to do the same.

You'll appreciate one another more and there will be fewer emotional peaks and valleys.

DEAR ANN: What's wrong with a 47-year-old man who writes letters to teenage girls and pretends he's their age? My husband gets names and addresses from magazines that advertise for pen-pals. He has a correspondence going with several young girls. I told him I think this is mighty strange but he says it's a harmless hobby and he never intends to see any of these girls.

Should I write to the parents and tell them, or what? Naturally I can't discuss this problem with anyone I know. Please advise me.—Pen Pal's Wife

Dear Wife: You ought to discuss this problem with one person you know—the family doctor. Your husband's hobby is a symptom of emotional illness. He may have had 47 birthdays but he's operating at the 15-year-level.

To learn the bobby-traps of teenage drinking, write for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teenage Drinking," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coins and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Marriage Licenses

A marriage license application has been made at County Clerk Mollie E. Pfeffer's office by Oliver A. Smith, 1374 W. Second street, Kaukauna, and Dorothy J. Johnson, 1278 Broadway street, Green Bay.

Miss Nyla Bock, Home demonstration agent of Outagamie county, will conduct homemaker meetings on the care and selection of carpeting. From left are Mrs. Edward Reffke, Appleton, Mrs. LaVerne Helsler, Greenville, and Miss Bock. The Homemaker center meetings precede individual club meetings held throughout the county.

Homemakers Learn Care of Carpeting

The selection and care of rugs and keeping them clean. Dirt comes into the home from many sources — it is brought in on shoes and objects carried in from outside. It blows through doors and windows, some just originates when jobs of various types are performed in the home. Regular cleaning of rugs and carpets will help preserve them.

Types of Dirt
Regardless of the sources of dirt, all homes have three general types of dirt to be removed. The first type is referred to as litter, such as dog hair, threads and ravelings. These cling to the surface of the rug and are difficult to remove.

The second type is ordinary dust which settles on rugs and furniture. The gathering of dust eventually may result in rotting of fabrics.

The third is heavy dirt or traffic grit. This sinks into the pile and out of sight. It is ground in deeper each time someone walks on the rug. It is essential that this dirt be removed regularly.

An essential cleaner should remove all three types of dirt. Litter is removed by brushing, dust by suction and deeply embedded dirt by agitation. The different types of cleaners are suction canister or tank, upright motor driven brush and upright motor driven agitator.

In a recent study, reports Miss Bock, it has been found that an overfull cleaning bag can cut down by one-third the amount of dirt a vacuum can pick up. Most of the dirt is picked up by the cleaner in the first 12 minutes of going over the rug, she said, but more dirt seems to be picked up as cleaning time increases.

There are two methods of professional rug cleaning: In-pit cleaning uses special machines to wash, rinse and remove water from rugs; on-location cleaning is done in the home.

A shampoo is fine for small rugs, but larger rugs require a lot of work. They cannot be rinsed properly and dry very slowly. Before shampooing, Miss Bock advises the home maker to remove all spots and vacuum right and wrong side.

Fiber rugs are kept clean easily with regular use of broom or sweeper. Rug cushions require an occasional brushing or vacuuming to remove the dirt that, sifts through the rug.

If wool carpets show furniture marks, use a steam iron to remove them, suggests the home agent. Hold the iron about half an inch above the carpet. When the carpet has been slightly moistened, gently raise the nap with fingers until all the fibers have been lifted. The same method can be used to revive nap of velvet, corduroy, and other pile fabrics, she says.

secretary, and Mrs. Dennis Hamerski, treasurer.

Tentative plans were made for the year. The next meeting will be Oct. 13 at the Verbrick home.

Gift Check Should be Returned

Dear Mrs. Post: I would very much appreciate your advice on the following matter: Six months ago our daughter was married but unfortunately it did not go well and two months ago she and her husband were separated. This week she received a wedding check from one of our friends who had been away. Should she return the gift and explain the situation or does she keep it and write a thank-you note?

Answer: She should return it with a letter thanking your friend for sending it, and explaining why she is returning it.

Properly Tied

Dear Mrs. Post: Our firm recently gave a farewell party to a senior partner and we presented him with a gift at this time. One of the men took charge of buying and wrapping the present. The package was very beautifully done up with attractive paper and tied with matching ribbon and a bow on top. One of the women remarked that a man's package is never tied with ribbon or bows and that only plain white tissue paper should be used. The man was very much perturbed over this and asked that I write and ask you if the wrapping was in bad taste.

Answer: Tying his package with ribbon was in perfectly good taste. Just think how drab Christmas packages would be if none of the presents for men could be embellished with ribbons or bows.

Good Idea

Dear Mrs. Post: After opening a car door to seat a lady, should I then walk around the front of the car so as to remain in her sight. I never heard of this before. Can you enlighten me?

Answer: There is no rule about this, but the suggestion that you walk around the front of the car is a good one.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-35, entitled, "The Well-Dressed Woman," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. E. P., care of Appleton Post-Crescent, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Trump Plays Depend On Cards Held in Hand

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD
U. S. Masters Team Champion

The right way to play trumps depends only partly on your trump holding. The rest of the hand may modify your plan.

Opening lead—D 2
West opened the deuce of diamonds, and East took the ace. East returned the jack of diamonds, and South won with the king. Declarer then went about the business of drawing trumps.

South recognized the trump holding. The standard play is to lead out the ace of trumps and then lead a low trump towards dummy's jack. If West has four trumps, he can take the queen; but then the jack and king draw the rest of the trumps. If East has four trumps, he captures the jack with the queen; but South later finesesses the nine to draw the rest of the trumps.

South therefore began by leading out the ace of trumps. This was his undoing.

When declarer next led a low trump towards dummy, West stepped up with the queen of trumps and led another diamond. This forced the jack of trumps out of dummy, and West was sure to get a second trump trick with the 10 of spades.

Must Foresee Ruff
South must foresee this diamond ruff and must provide for it in handling the trumps. Declarer should begin the trumps by leading a low spade towards dummy's jack.

West cannot gain by playing low, for declarer would take the jack and king and would then ruff a diamond. The rest would be easy.

West therefore steps up at once with the queen of spades. If West then leads a diamond, dummy can ruff with a low trump. Declarer can draw the rest of the trumps with dummy's jack and his own ace and king.

Daily Question
Partner opens the bidding with one heart, and the next player passes. You hold: S—J 5 2, H—K Q 10 5, D—7, C—K Q 10 8 6. What do you say?

Answer: Bid three hearts. The double raise shows at least four trumps in a hand with a count of 13 to 16 points. This hand is worth a game force opposite a heart bid, but only a game invitation opposite a spade bid.

A Perennial Fiancee

"... My ex-fiancee fell madly in love with another man and broke off our romance of twelve years. I presume that this infatuation will soon wear off and then comes the question of whether or not I should marry her."

You sometimes have an uncanny ability to read the minds of others, but this time I'm afraid you're indulging in wishful thinking.

Your ex-fiancee had waited a long time. If, in the beginning, she had had your handwriting analyzed, it is possible that she might have saved herself some heartaches.

You are too wrapped up in

Mothers' Lack of Interest Forces Brownies to Stop

New London — Second grade girls at McKinley grade school were unable to be organized into a Brownie troop because of lack of interest shown by their mothers.

Mrs. Everett Klinzing, troop organizer, reported two mothers attended an organizational meeting. Eight mothers are required at a meeting before a troop can be organized.

If mothers want a Brownie troop, they have been asked to contact Mrs. Klinzing and another organizational meeting will be scheduled.

Leaders also are needed for the third and fourth grade McKinley school Brownie troops.

yourself to be interested in marriage. Everything in your handwriting tends leftward (back to self), even your t-bars.

But you possess many qualities (shown quite clearly in your writing) that undoubtedly made it very difficult for her to see through to your fundamental self-absorption.

You are charming, amusing, witty, intuitive and restrained. You can put ideas into others' mind and make them seem their own.

Sometimes you seem considerate and generous to an extreme (open letters "a" and "o"), but it is all on the surface. You know how to please but not how to love.

The young lady's writing shows a kind and affectionate nature but does not reveal that she would "fall madly in love" as you describe. She is exceptionally well balanced, gentle and protective. She'll make someone a wonderful wife. If by some chance you can get her back, all I can say is "Hurry, hurry, hurry." To her I'd say, if she asked me "Make sure he names the day."

PRESENTING AMERICA'S MOST CAREFULLY BUILT CAR

THE IMPERIAL OF 1960

Tomorrow, at showrooms across America, we introduce the totally new . . . totally wonderful Imperial.

It is built more carefully, tested more thoroughly; than any other car which has been or will be introduced this year. It requires more individual hand-crafting than other cars. It takes longer to build . . . because the skills which build it are the kind that can't be hurried. It has brought automotive craftsmanship back to America.

The new instrument panel has bold, readable calibrations . . . logically placed, controls . . . and a remarkable new Panelescent lighting which aids vision and depth perception at night by eliminating glare and reflection.

New swivel seats turn automatically as the door is opened. An exclusive, improved Auto-Pilot tends the accelerator on long trips (two very practical options) . . . the engine has more wheel-turning power than any other passenger car engine in the world.

When you drive our Imperial of 1960, we think you will agree it proves one satisfying point . . . that a fine car can be almost awesomely impressive, and still be a vivid, engaging personality . . . a good companion as well as an obedient servant.

Compare Imperial's riding quality, space and comfort . . . ease of entry and exit, front and rear . . . driving liveliness . . . and learn that it is, in luxurious fact, the finest car America has yet produced.

German Auto Boom in Laos To Break Soon

Abnormal Exchange Rate Brought Cars In by Thousands

Vientiane, Laos—Laos, long known as the land of a million elephants, has been converted into the land of the thousand Mercedes.

But the elephants may still be treading Loatian jungle paths long after the robust German cars have reached the junkyard.

The abundance of shiny Mercedes cars in this remote southeast Asian city may be a shortlived caprice of economics. They came in like a flood of the Mekong river — stimulated by an abnormal exchange rate.

Exchange Rates

The flood has receded and the waters are now down to a trickle, since the government last November made the official exchange rate 80 kips for $1 instead of 35.

Until then the U.S. dollar brought 100 kips on the black market. Importers who had the right government connection paid 105,000 kips ($1,050) to the Laotian bank to import a $3,000 Mercedes Benz.

Some of the cars were delivered in Bangkok or Saigon and sold for $4,000. This was converted back into Laotian currency at the black market rate, or 400,000 kips.

Then the dealers repeated the process. Large fortunes were made at the expense of dwindling foreign exchange reserves.

Sharp Reduction

The change in the exchange rate brought a sharp reduction in imports and a depression. Laos imports everything from matches to tires.

Four years ago some 50 cars rattled along Vientiane's streets. Today there are perhaps 2,500, and about three-fifths are Mercedes. Some are used as taxis. They are not expected to long endure Laotian conditions — poor maintenance, lack of competent repair mechanics, bad roads and rough treatment.

Chilton Retail Men Schedule 3-Day Sale

Chilton — Harvest days, an autumn city-wide sales event, has been planned by the Chamber of Commerce for Oct. 22, 23, and 24. Preliminary plans were outlined at a meeting of retail committee-men.

It is expected that all city merchants, business places and personal service firms will participate in the 3-day sale.

Norbert Sturm and Arvin Courtice, retail co-chairmen, are in charge of final planning. Contacts will be made with all city business by members of the retail committee. Bob Leach; Bob Mand; Roger Teske; Ed Markgraf; Sylvester Hawig; Andrew Pendi; Joe Schieble; Vic Grittner; Charles Smith; and Robert Nolan.

Seniors Select AHS Flagraisers

Marcia Arnoldussen and John Falcus were honored at Appleton High school by being elected flagraisers. Voting was by members of the senior class.

Basis for election is outstanding work in school and good citizenship with respect for fellow beings, the school and their country.

Miss Arnoldussen has been a senior councilor, a member of Pep club, and a member of the Clarion editorial staff. In her sophomore year she was a member of Latin club, and was a junior editor of Patterns of Star Dust and has been elected a representative to Badger Girls' state.

Falcus was a member of the varsity basketball team and this year was out for football until an injury sidelined him.

As flagraisers, the two seniors will raise the school flag each morning and lower it each evening.

North Korean Strength Up

Believe Air Force Has 990 Planes Including 810 Jets

Seoul, Korea, — The South Korean ministry says the North Korean air force boasts 990 planes, including 810 jets.

The size of the South Korean air force has never been officially disclosed, but it is known to have two sabre jet wings totaling about 150 fighters.

North Korea's military strength was listed by the ministry in a booklet marking South Korea's fourth observance of armed forces day Oct. 1.

The ministry gave this lineup of the communist forces to the north:

An air force of five fighter divisions, one transport division, a bomber division and a reconnaissance division. North Korea's air force comprised only 490 jets and 230 conventional aircraft in 1953 when the Korean war ended.

Army Strength The communist army has increased from 231,500 men six years ago to 436,100. South Korea is reported to have 20 regular infantry divisions totaling 500,000 men.

No communist Chinese forces are in North Korea now, although 789,300 Chinese soldiers were there when the Korean war ended.

North Korea's navy has increased from 14 vessels totaling 2,500 tons to 160 vessels totaling 9,740 tons. The communist naval force totals 6,340 men compared with more than 10,000. South Korea's navy has increased from 14 vessels totaling 2,500 tons to 160 vessels totaling 9,740 tons. The communist naval force totals 6,340 men compared with more than 10,000 South Korean sailors.

Visits Aid Nixon, Not Rockefeller

Delay of Ike's Return Visit Benefit to Republican Party

BY WILLIAM S. WHITE

Washington — The postponement to next spring of President Eisenhower's journey to Moscow has perhaps deferred the climactic moment in cold war negotiations. Unquestionably, it has hastened the coming crisis in the domestic war between White House Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination.

The president's decision to delay his return visit to Nikita Khrushchev is a spectacular break for Nixon.

The first opportunity for a Nixon-Rockefeller showdown is the presidential primary March 8 in New Hampshire. A significant chapter in the domestic story will have been told before Eisenhower starts for the Kremlin in May, 1960.

Thaw May Last

Whatever else may happen the critical New Hampshire primary will have been run off while the peace issue dominates the American scene. If by that time there is still an international thaw Rockefeller will be competing against a man who helped originate that thaw.

In that event almost every regular Republican will be on one single GOP team, the Eisenhower-Nixon peace team. This would leave Rockefeller the outsider.

If, on the other hand, the thaw has turned to frost by March, 1960, the vice president will be on the outside. This, however, would have been the case anyway, even if the Eisenhower trip had been carried out this fall. It is extremely unlikely that if the Russians are going to turn ugly again they would do so before the president's visit.

Nixon in Danger

Nixon was aware, even before his own trip to Russia, that he was getting himself into a position of great danger as well as great promise. He knew that if the outcome of it all was bad, he was finished anyhow.

The timing of the dialogues between Eisenhower and Khrushchev is inescapably to Nixon's advantage. It is inescapably to Rockefeller's disadvantage.

If everything had gone sour Rockefeller would look relatively better than Nixon. But in that unhappy event no Republican would look very good for election in 1960.

Thus strong good fortune still smilingly dogs the Nixon footsteps. It is such very good fortune as to make premature speculations that Rockefeller was going to contest in New Hampshire.

His visit to the state was strictly the visit of a prospective candidate, notwithstanding his amiable refusal to say yea or nay.

Nixon himself now is going to New Hampshire, just a week behind Rockefeller, to make a determined showing in advance of 1960.

Again Nixon, this second tourist to New Hampshire, will stir up no unnecessary preconvention disputes on issues.

"Dick," as a Nixon friend puts it with a grin, "is going up to dedicate a dam. But it is one of those old-fashioned dams built by the army engineers. It isn't one of those new kind of dams where people are arguing, long before a bucket of concrete is poured, about public versus private power. There isn't any argument anywhere in this dam."

Golf Course Fence Opposed By 42 People

Carpenter, Maple Street Residents Protest to City

A protest on erection of a 6-foot fence along the western boundary of Reid Municipal Golf course was filed at city hall Wednesday by 42 residents of Carpenter and Maple streets.

A petition, signed by 263 people and demanding the fence, was filed at city hall Sept. 18. It was read at the last council meeting and referred to the park board for action.

Opponents say the "high, prison-type fence" would destroy our picturesque view of the tree-dotted greensward of this course.

Call It Ugly

They said the fence could be expected to become "studded with bits of torn paper and wind-tossed parts of newspapers, and enmeshed with tangled weeds and brush."

"Our lawns and shrubberies," they added, "have not been unduly ruined. Nor do we often encounter discourteous golfers whose balls go beyond the street. A fence will not stop these high-flying balls, but it would make them irretrievable."

"When every other city is spending money to beautify its surroundings, is Appleton going to spend $7,000 to $9,000 of the taxpayers' money for an ugly fence, an enclosure to stop a few balls that some golfers hook?" asked the opponents.

Suggest Other Use

"We suggest," they said, "that this money be used for some necessary improvements, for something that will benefit our fine children and teenagers. It might be used for playground equipment, for recreational facilities, for park improvements."

The opponents acknowledged that a few "No Trespassing" signs might be needed to keep occasional wanderers off the course during the golfing season.

Fence proponents Sept. 18 cited danger to people from flying golf balls, better policing and control of course traffic and less damage to greens and equipment as advantages of a fence.

Smuggling Big Business in Philippines

BY TONY ESCODA

Manila — Smuggling is big business in the Philippines. The government loses $80 million or more a year in revenue as a result.

Contraband ranges from babies' wear to whisky.

U. S. dollars are probably highest on the list.

Stringent foreign exchange controls have made U. S. currency a highly prized commodity. The present black market exchange rate is about four pesos to the dollar compared to the official rate of 2-1.

The aim of smugglers is to salt money away in foreign banks out of the government's reach. Then it's either sold outright for a profit or used to finance other smuggling operations.

Runs Into Millions

Monetary officials are unable to say exactly how many dollars are sent out of the country illegally each year, but they know the figure is in the millions.

The dollars are slipped out in a number of ways—through under-the-counter business transactions, in the false-bottomed suitcases or hollow heels of tourists, or sometimes simply through the mail.

At least two international syndicates are believed to be involved today in large-scale dollar smuggling here. One is Chinese and the other American.

Other syndicates deal in luxury items restricted by government import controls.

American cigarettes are sold openly on the sidewalks (at one peso 60 centavos or 80 cents a pack). Few packs carry customs seals to show they came in legally. Most of them are sneaked in from U. S. military post exchanges or from such nearby free ports as Hong Kong.

'College Avenue Bridge' Name of $1 Million Span

The $1 million high level bridge now under construction will be known as the College avenue bridge, the council's street and sanitation committee has decided.

The name will follow the policy which has been in effect for all other bridges, committees said.

(All bridges in Appleton are named after the street which approaches them from both sides of the river.)

Vote Oct. 7

Changing of the name of Candee street to College avenue along that section of Candee which will serve as a south approach to the new span paved the way for the official bridge naming action. This was done several months ago, upon suggestion of Ald. Thomas K. Schneider.

The city council will vote on the committee's action Oct. 7.

Solve Mystery of 'Outer Space' Sphere

Ashland, Ky. — Guesses ranged from remnants of a flying saucer to some mysterious metal from another world when a metal sphere was found beside a highway near here.

Police Chief Charles Howard identified it right away. It was a float regulator from a large gasoline tank.

Eisenhower 'Gave' in Talks About Berlin

Explanations Needed of Claim There Would Be No Fixed Time Limit on Discussions

BY JOSEPH ALSOP

Washington — The clue to the president's achievement at Camp David is provided by the last scene between him and Nikita Khrushchev. To set the stage, the president's feelings about the Berlin crisis must be understood. In brief, he has seen nothing sinister in Khrushchev's decision to reopen the question of Berlin. What has seemed sinister to Eisenhower was Khrushchev's continuous use of crude threats, his repeated mentions of time limits for action on Berlin, and his employment of ultimatum diplomacy.

These being the president's feelings, he at once tackled Khrushchev on this point. In reply, the Soviet leader overflowed with reassurances. Khrushchev said he had never meant to use threats. He denied intent to set time limits. He disclaimed purpose in ultimatums. He swore all he wanted was peaceable negotiations aimed at general agreement for Berlin's future.

Press Statement
When it came time to write the Camp David communique, the president wished these assurances of Khrushchev's reflected in the text. The draft communique did include some such statement as the president made at his press conference. There, he said, he and Khrushchev had agreed the renewed negotiations on Berlin "should not be prolonged indefinitely but there could be no fixed time limit on them."

Khrushchev sharply protested this passage. The argument, carried on before witnesses, was brisk and prolonged. Khrushchev repeatedly admitted the language proposed embodied his own agreement with the president. But he kept insisting that if this part of the agreement appeared in the communique itself, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer would be encouraged to drag out the Berlin talks "for another 25 years."

At length, a novel compromise was reached. The president was to announce at his Monday press conference that "in addition to what the communique said, 'he and Khrushchev also agreed 'there could be no fixed time limit' on the negotiations. In Moscow, Khrushchev was to confirm this presidential addition to the communique."

False Assumption
Once in Washington, the state department members of the party discovered a false assumption made at Camp David. It had been expected that Khrushchev would give the promised confirmation to the president in his Moscow speech; but it was suddenly noted that the Khrushchev speech actually would be delivered before the president's press conference had convened. Sec. of State Christian A. Herter therefore asked Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to make sure Khrushchev kept his promise to the president in a secondary public statement before he left Moscow for Peking.

If this agreement between Eisenhower and Khrushchev really proves enduring, then the president has at least made one big gain at Camp David. Negotiations with "no fixed time limit" clearly mean negotiations with no more ultimatums and no more brutal threats of Soviet unilateral action at Berlin.

On the other hand, the president's gain is plainly balanced by a gain for Khrushchev. The president had abandoned his former insistence on prior justification for a summit conference, in the form of proof of progress towards an acceptable agreement on Berlin.

At the president's press conference, it seemed that Khrushchev had made even greater gains. The president, who has been much more ill and weary than most people suppose, really seemed to have added Neville Chamberlain's umbrella to Stanley Baldwin's defense budget. The White House and the state department therefore had to swing into action after the press conference, explaining the president had no intention of sacrificing any of the West Berliners' rights, or any of the western rights in Berlin.

To judge this point, however, it is wise to wait for the summit meeting. Even after fullest allowances are made for the effects of the president's cold and his weariness, it certainly sounded as though he were the one who was showing "give" on the Berlin issue.

Dogs Present Safety Circus

Parochial School Pupils See Trained Canines Perform

Kaukauna — Lessons in traffic safety were given to pupils at Holy Cross and St. Mary's Catholic schools Tuesday by Officer Pressley's Traffic Safety circus.

Featuring a troupe of trained dogs which do tricks to demonstrate traffic safety habits, the circus is currently touring elementary schools in 20 states.

Officer Ernest E. Pressley, a Charlotte, N. C., police officer is ringmaster and puts the dogs through a series of tricks. The dogs performed on ladders, barrels, platforms, blocks and climbing poles. The animals demonstrate proper safety habits while still being entertaining for students.

The circus is being sponsored in Wisconsin by the Wisconsin Truckers' Safety council and nationally by the American Trucking association. It has the endorsement of the National Safety Council, J. Edgar Hoover, The International Police Chief's association as well as educators and civic organizations throughout the country.

Jobless Total May Chagrin Mitchell

BY SYLVIA PORTER
James P. Mitchell, secretary of labor, now is facing the unpalatable challenge of eating his hat on the steps of the labor department building in Washington in November.

But since April we've had the longest steel strike in history. Even if the mills are roaring by the week of Oct. 11, the secondary effects of the strike will continue far beyond that.

Strikers Not Counted
As Dr. Seymour Wolfbein, deputy secretary of labor, emphasized, "Although strikers aren't counted as unemployed, workers laid off as a result of the strike certainly are counted. It'll be weeks after the mills are in full production before corporations which have had to cut operations due to steel shortages will be back to their full output and will be calling back all workers laid off."

If the strike had ended quickly, unemployment now would be way down, he reported. "Now it's touch and go for the secretary's 'hat,' no matter how powerfully the mills might be operating by mid-October."

We were all set for a great upsurge to new economic peaks this fall and all the basic forces are still converging to make this come true. But the steel strike will be distorting statistics for months.

Joblessness Fell
As of mid-August, joblessness was down 318,000 to 3,426,000—half the drop that was seasonably anticipated because of layoffs directly resulting from the steel strike.

As of mid-September the likelihood is that joblessness went down again but unquestionably the seasonal decline was much less than normal. As of mid-October? Well, as Wolfbein says, Mitchell still has a chance, but it's a mighty slim one.

Mitchell did not bet on an unprecedentedly long dead-

City Dwellers of World Must Burrow Into Ground

Paris — There's expert opinion city dwellers of the world must learn to burrow into the ground, whether the holes are for parking lots or bomb shelters.

This opinion is the conclusion of a group of scientific moles whose headquarters is the permanent international committee for underground town planning.

Greeting Scientists
From their headquarters in Paris the scientists swap information on everything from atomic bomb shelters to protecting bank vaults from seepage or purifying the air in long tunnels. And such work is one way to ease surface congestion.

The group has moved temporarily to Brussels. There its members are greeting scientists from both sides of the Iron Curtain for the opening of the second postwar international convention of the committee.

Russian and American experts will be present for the atomic bomb shelter discussions. Whether they will swap any secrets is up to them. The bomb shelters are only a small part of the work to be reviewed by the representatives of 20 nations attending.

One vital report is to be given by Max Serruys, a delegate of the French education ministry. He says he has found a way to eliminate 95 per cent of the carbon dioxide from automobile exhausts. This would overcome one of the big obstacles in such work as the projected tunnel beneath the English channel.

20 Institute Freshmen Begin Study in Forest

Twenty first year students from the Institute of Paper Chemistry began their graduate study with a forestry field tour of northern Wisconsin. Headquarters for the session was the Trees for Tomorrow camp at Eagle River.

M. N. Taylor, executive director, welcomed the group and explained functions of Trees for Tomorrow, Inc. The students were told basic forestry practices at the Nicolet national forest by Tony Quinkert, forest ranger, and at the demonstration forest at camp by Walter Nicewander, camp manager.

Forestry from seedling to sawlog was explained by John Macon, research forester, at the Consolidated Water Power and Paper company nursery and industrial forest. The students viewed latest techniques in the manufacture of glassine and greaseproof papers at the Rhineland Paper company, guided by Richard Crane, technical director.

Dr. Irving Isenberg, Institute of Paper Chemistry research associate, was in charge of the workshop, designed as an orientation period for first year students before beginning four years of study at the institute.

Red Feather Family Visits . . . Service Available to All Families Through Coordinating Agency

Neenah — Service available to every member of every family, the Twin Cities' 199 Red Feather family has found in the goal of the Neenah-Menasha Family service.

The Red Feather family, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Lange and children of Neenah, is touring the offices of all 10 agencies supported by Community Chest funds before the fund campaign opens Monday. The Langes visited Family service workers in the agency's office at 514 N. Commercial street, Neenah.

In two rooms containing desks, filing cabinets and a stack of boxes filled with used clothing, Mrs. Ruth Falvey, executive director, and Mrs. Horace Du Bois, part-time secretary, handle the agency's entire case load for the Twin Cities.

Non-Sectarian The boxes of clothing are given to needy families with marginal incomes as temporary assistance.

Family service is a private, non-sectarian agency established in Neenah-Menasha in 1940 to promote stronger and better family life. All case work is confidential.

Last year, Mrs. Falvey, the agency's only full-time case worker for the last 17 years, and Mrs. Du Bois, made 6,126 contacts on behalf of more than 650 clients, 20 per cent more contacts than in 1957. Nearly half sought assistance for the first time.

The contacts involved home visits, office interviews, court hearings and letters and telephone calls to help families meet problems.

"Sympathetic Listening" Much family service work involves social casework and counseling on marital and family problems, child neglect, delinquency, old age, medical and financial problems and foster home and institution placement.

"Sympathetic listening means a lot in solving many of these problems and in pre-

Board to Study Resurfacing of Walnut Street

Public Works Group Considers Placing Project in 1960 Budget

Neenah—Inclusion of the rebuilding of Walnut street as part of the budget for the 1960 street program was proposed at Wednesday night's meeting of the committee on public works.

No action was taken on the suggestion pending the preparation of costs and assessment possibilities.

Much of the cost would be borne by the city because of city property bordering the street. The area contemplated for reconstruction is from Doty avenue south to Washington avenue. Curb and gutter and a blacktop surfacing is proposed.

The public works committee is recommending that $750 be placed into the 1960 budget as the city's share for blacktopping N. Lake street from the Soo line tracks north to the city limits.

Share With County The area from Main street north to the tracks was done in 1957. The work would be done in conjunction with Winnebago county, since the street is on the county trunk system.

Installation of a sidewalk in front of a lot on Betty avenue to connect with existing walks also is being recommended.

The shortage of steel because of the strike has prompted the committee to approve a change order from square bars to round bars in construction of the new police station.

The council also will be asked to advertise for bids for storm sewer on Marathon street and sanitary sewer and water mains on Geiger street from Andrew street to Green Bay road.

Another recommendation will allow Hal Faverty to install sewer and water mains on Pembroke drive north of Surrey lane at his own expense.

Approve 141st New Home in Neenah

Neenah — The issuance of a new home permit to Joseph DeNoble for a house to be erected on Betty avenue brings the total authorized this year by Building Inspector Carlton F. Williams to 131, four less than the total this time last year.

The $9,000 house will be 24 by 40 feet.

Speeder Forfeits

Neenah — Melvin V. Mathison, 19, route 1, Larsen, forfeited $14.20 at the police station for speeding 35 miles an hour on N. Commercial street. He was arrested at 10:40 p.m. Sunday.

Boys' Brigade Leadership Staff Up to 119

Physical Education Added to Weekly Activities Program

Neenah — The addition of three more new leaders to the Boys' Brigade volunteer staff brings the total of adult leaders this year up to 119, Jack Casper, Brigade coordinator, said today.

The new leaders are Frank Lanzer and Ed Schultz who will work with the eighth grade group and Leigh Andrews who will work with seventh grade boys.

The leaders and their wives and guests will open the season with a potluck dinner Sunday night.

Add Phy Ed Training The Brigade is adding a physical education program to its activities this year in line with the national requests for boys groups to stress physical fitness. Each boy will have a 1-hour physical education session about once every five weeks.

In this session he will be measured and weighed and will do various gymnastics, such as push-ups, sit-ups and chin-ups, which will be recorded each time.

Dick Meyer will head this program and will work with the Monday night group. Bernard Blank will handle the program Tuesday nights, Kenneth Jarman Wednesday nights and the individual group leaders on Thursday nights.

At the Entrance of the Neenah-Menasha family service, Mrs. Ruth Falvey, executive director, greets Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Lange of the 1959 Community Chest Red Feather family. The Langes have visited family service and other agencies. In background is Mrs. Horace Du Bois, part time secretary.

Group of Pictures Does Much to Beautify Window Without View

Neenah — A room with a view is probably one of the prime requirements of new home and apartment owners. Too often, however, the window vista can turn out to be a scenic panorama of a neighbor's back yard, a garbage-filled alley, or a plain brick wall.

If you happen to be a householder who isn't blessed with a view of the bay or a pastoral paradise, why not create your own artificial view? For only a few dollars, you can create your own picture view with framed pictures. Build this artificial scene by hanging framed pictures completely around the problem window. Besides offering a colorful, easy-to-look-at grouping, the pictures will draw the eye away from the outside scene and focus attention on the room setting as a whole.

Your "new" view can include such classic scenes as a country lane, a Parisian street scene, or a reproduction of your favorite "old master" painting.

Vary Sizes

Use different sizes and shapes of framed pictures and mix well. The more informal the grouping around the window, the more interesting your scene will be.

If there's wall space between the top of the window and the ceiling, don't be afraid to hang pictures there, too. And be sure to hang your pictures all the way down to the floor molding to get a unified and complete setting.

If you don't own enough pictures to go around the window, fill in with framed reproductions of your favorite scenes. A complete window grouping of framed reproductions can be purchased for only a few dollars.

Before pounding nails into the wall, group your pictures on the floor first. Try different arrangements until you find the right one. To help insure proper hanging and spacing, cut out paper shapes the same size as the pictures and pin them on the wall, using your floor grouping as a guide. When you start attaching your nails or hooks, the paper shapes will show you where to place them.

Fall Picnic In Garage Means Fun

BY VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Cooler weather need not close off the picnic season, a fun time for young people that makes entertaining so much easier on the household. No fuss. No feathers. Food that can be prepared mainly in advance, taking advantage of all the short cuts to entertaining.

A festive picnic may be held on the porch, in the garage or in the barn. Dad may oblige, putting the car elsewhere for the occasion if you choose the garage, but in any case it will keep the group out of the house.

A small barbecue unit can do a fine job of barbecuing in a small area, if you plan to broil hot dogs or hamburgers. Food prepared in the house

Neenah; John N. Wilkins, 21 W. South Park avenue, Oshkosh, and Mary Lou Scheller, Van Dyne; Carlton E. Williams, 1551 Harrison street, Oshkosh, and Judith M. Chase, 704 Otter street, Oshkosh; James F. Brooks, 532 W. Seventeenth avenue, Oshkosh, and Judy Abraham, Van Dyne; Harold E. Pletz, 533 Bowen street, Oshkosh, and Lois A. Zentner, 1747 Michigan street, Oshkosh; Robert J. De Keyser, route 1, Neenah, and Marlene A. Dolechek, 209 Elmwood court, Neenah.

Chopped fresh tomato and minced onions, dusted with a bit of brown sugar and some sweet basil, make another good topping.

Grated hard cooked eggs and mayonnaise will give a soufflé effect to the frankfurters.

Horseradish with applesauce is a good taste combination. Go light on the horseradish.

A mixture of equal parts of chunky peanut butter and cream cheese masked with chutney (if you have it) or watermelon rind with a little curry powder and worcestershire sauce may offer an intriguing taste treat.

A sweet-and-sour sauce that is favored by the Chinese may be made with this short cut: Mix baby food apricots and pears with a bit of vinegar. Or mix orange marmalade and mustard.

Salad, Anyone?

Macaroni salad is a favorite with hot dogs. Inexpensive and easy to prepare, it may be made in advance and kept in the ice box. One pound of elbow macaroni will feed six. Cook it. Drain it. Run cold water over it. Drain again. Then mix into it two chopped pimientos, one-half green pepper chopped fine, one cup of chopped celery, one chopped onion, one-half cup of mayonnaise or more if needed. Add a little French salad dressing if you have it on hand. Put the salad into the refrigerator or until you are ready to serve it.

Move the sawbuck table and garden benches into the garage. All seating equipment should be the rugged kind. The record player, a bucket of cold drinks and the food should set the pace for a fun evening. Decorations and soft lights lend more enchantment to the garage picnic.

Lodge to Meet

Menasha—Past noble grand night will be observed at the 8 p.m. Friday meeting of Betty Rebekah lodge at Odd Fellows hall. A lunch will be served.

Currently honeymooning in Canada are Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Mueller who were married at 3 p.m. Saturday at St. Paul English Lutheran church. The bride is the former Kay Carol Christensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Christensen, 117 Mayer street, Neenah. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. George Mueller, route 5, Oshkosh. The newlyweds will make their home in Oshkosh.

Singing Group Will Entertain Golden Aged

Neenah — The Appleton Maennerschor, a German singing society, will entertain members of the Golden Age club at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday with a program of German songs. Peter Jacobs is the director. The meeting for those over 60 years of age will be held in the Neenah Recreation building.

The club meets every first and third Tuesday of the month and is open to all interested parties.

Home Agent Has Recipe

Oshkosh — With a good variety of apples on the market, homemakers are looking for various ways of using apples in menu planning. Because of cooler weather, oven foods such as baked apples can be served attractively as dessert. Says Lois Klusmeyer, county home agent.

Special baked apples call for 6 baking apples, 1 cup seedless raisins, 1/2 cup nut meats, 1 tablespoon grated orange peel, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup water, 1 cup orange juice and 1 tablespoon butter.

Core apples from stem end being very careful not to cut all the way through. Peel apple about one-third of the way down from stem end. Combine raisins, nuts and orange peel and fill apple centers with this mixture.

Combine remaining ingredients in sauce pan and stir over low heat until sugar dissolves. Place apples in baking pan, pour sirup over them. Cover. Bake in a 350 degree oven 45 minutes to 1 hour. Baste occasionally with sirup in pan. When apples are tender, baste once more and run under broiler to glaze. Serve plain or with cream. Variations: chopped dates, nuts and grated lemon rind; cranberry relish or sauce; or orange marmalade and raisins.

About 100 varieties of canned fish and seafoods are on the grocers' shelves. Compare prices of various packs such as in tuna. The flake or grated style is smaller pieces and generally priced lower than chunk style or fancy pack. There is even a dietetic pack which is put up in distilled water for those who need to avoid salt or fat in their diets.

An easy-to-make loaf can be made with tuna, salmon, or other fish flakes. Use 14 ounces of canned fish flakes and drain well. Combine an egg, 1 cup tomatoes, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, 1 cup soft bread cubes. Season with salt and celery salt.

Papermakers Won't be Easy, Coach Declares

Should Have Scored 3 More Times in Game At Kaukauna, Batterman Tells Quarterbacks

Neenah — Kimberly won't be easy, Coach Marlon Batterman told the Neenah Quarterback club Wednesday night in discussing Friday's conference clash against the Papermakers.

The coach pointed out that any team with two players the calibre of Darrell Jansen and Don Hearden are bound to be dangerous. He added that graduation took a 'good end in Jack Lamers and all of Kimberly's interior line.

As for the Kaukauna game (a 7-0 win in the rain), the Neenah mentor reported that the Rockets didn't perform as well as they might have. He said they should have scored three more times.

Kaukauna Good Club

Kaukauna is a good ball club, he declared, and returning to his own squad he stated that the defense is improving but the inner line still isn't getting a good charge.

He told that Dick Wilson did a good job in catching a pass since he wears a chain which prevents him from raising his arm.

As for injuries, Batterman said center Jim Sauby has a knee injury, Mitch Miller, a nerve pinch in the back, and Gary Bayer, a hand ailment. Halfback Jerry Schaefer received a foot in the eye while making a tackle and received a cut lid which required seven stitches.

Fresh Squad

Fresh coach Jake Stoesz discussed his freshman team which beat Kaukauna 18-0 in its opener. He cited some of the problems encountered in coaching freshman players. Stoesz added that Joe Began plays a lot of football for 138 pounds and Dave Neubauer's punting in the Kaukauna game was terrific for a freshman.

Batterman substituted for Ole Jorgensen in discussing the kind and price of football equipment and said it takes about $171.75 to outfit a player and this doesn't include a teeth protector and insurance.

Miehle Bests Research for League Crown

All Runs Unearned In 3-2 Decision; Win to Brethauer

Menasha — Carton Miehle, second round titlist, won the grand championship of the Marathon Softball league by edging Research and Development 3-2 Wednesday night at Jefferson park.

All of the runs scored by both teams were unearned. Winner Don Brethauer pitched a 2-hitter and loser Doug Wiatrowski only allowed three safeties.

Miehle scored three times in the third inning on two errors and a pair of hits.

Reg Denney was safe on an infield bobbie and after two strikeouts Roy Delano got life on Wiatrowski's error. Gene Rasmussen tripled home both runners and he scored on Dietzler's single.

Research had taken the lead with two runs in the initial frame. With one out, a walk, Neil Haack's hit and a miscue produced the pair.

The Miehle hits were garnered by Rasmussen, Dietzler and Ken Reinert while for Research, Haack and Wiatrowski got the safeties.

Unbeaten Reedsville and Denmark will clash headon at Reedsville Friday in the spotlight tilt in the Little Nine grid games this week.

Both teams have won a pair and share the 3-way tie for first place in the circuit.

Wrightstown, also unbeaten in a pair of games, plays at Winneconne in another fray that may go a long way in deciding the league champion.

Omro and Shiocton get off to an early start in activities playing at Shiocton tonight. The other league tilt sends Freedom to Hortonville with both teams looking for its first loop victory.

Shiocton Injuries

Lynn Braatz, junior fullback, has been inserted into the starting lineup at Shiocton to replace Henry Winterfeldt who suffered a concussion in the Winneconne game. Winterfeldt is expected to be out of action for the rest of the season.

Coach John Bowers of Shiocton promoted Braatz to the starting post although he has seen only limited action so far this season. Tom Engblom, another back, will be out of the Chief's lineup because of a knee injury. He is expected to be ready to go next weekend.

Reedsville has rolled to three straight victories this season, one in a non-conference game. Denmark lost a non-loop tilt to Brussels and then edged by Hortonville, 7-6 and Freedom, 14-0.

Wrightstown also is unbeaten on the season, winning a pair and tying an exhibition tilt with Sevastopol. Winneconne has a 1-2 record for the season, its lone victory being a 7-5 sneaker over Omro.

Schmidt, Ebben Share Catholic League Honors

Menasha — With just two of the 16 Fox Valley Catholic conference games out of the way, two players are tied for the individual scoring lead.

Joe Schmidt, Pennings fullback, and Andy Ebben, speedy St. John halfback, both have two touchdowns for 12 points. Schmidt scored twice, in his team's 13-13 tie against St. John while Ebben picked up single 6-pointers in the Pennings and Fond du Lac Springs games.

Other players with points are Ed Hammen, St. John seven, and John Whitney, Pennings, a conversion. Springs' players were blanked while St. Mary and Marinette Catholic haven't played any league games as yet.

The Zephyrs take on Pennings here Saturday night while Marinette opens league play, also against the DePere school, a week later.

their scores weren't reported. Offset Press and Pressroom are tied for first place with 5-1 records. No honor scores were rolled in the Wednesday Night Ladies league, a circuit topped by Krambo's 5-1 record.

Shawano Invades Menasha Gridiron

Jays Meet Second Loop Foe; Indians Also Have 0-2 Mark

Menasha — Still looking for its first points of the season, Menasha continues defense of its Mid-Eastern conference football crown against Shawano at 8 p.m. Friday at Butte des Morts field.

The Bluejays were unable to get a sustained march going in either of their two games and this week's drills are geared to remedy this situation.

A couple of mistakes — a blocked punt and lost fumble — set up Kimberly's two touchdowns in the 12-0 loss in the rain Saturday night. Both scores came in the second quarter. Coach Carl Steffen felt the club did well defensively in the second half, not allowing the Papermakers to get inside its 30 yard line.

No Serious Injuries

The Jays received no serious injuries in the Kimberly contest and all players are expected to be ready for the invasion of the Indians.

Shawano, like the Jays, hasn't crossed its opponents' goal line either. The Indians held a highly-regarded Clintonville even to two touchdowns last week after losing by one to Merrill, Wisconsin Valley conference title favorite.

Last year's club won two of eight starts and placed sixth in the final conference standings. From that unit, 15 lettermen return.

Quarterback Harley Lyons graduated but southpaw passer Bill Krenger, and Tom McGuire, his understudies, return. Other backs are Lou Runge, Art Piehl, Archie But, Mike Penass and Roger Total placing for local dogs for the year showed "Johnson's Golden Major" handled by Arnold Johnson with three seconds, two thirds and two fourths.

"Little Space Girl," a black Labrador pup handled by 11-year old David Johnson, ran in three trials and won two fourth places.

18 Pastors at St. John in Last 71 Years

Many Old Catholic Organizations of Parish Still Meet

Menasha — Formed in 1888, St. John Catholic parish is the youngest in Menasha.

Including the present pastor the Rev. Joseph Szupryt, the parish has been served by 18 pastors in its 71-year life span. The Rev. John Monczynski was the first pastor.

The parish was formed to accommodate 75 Polish families who originally had belonged to St. Mary parish. At that time the area near the church, at Fifth and DePere streets, was predominantly settled by Polish-American families.

Since then, some of the Poles have moved and others, of non-Polish birth or ancestry, have come into the parish.

After its founding, the parish church was in a 2-story brick 40 by 90 foot building. The parish school was in the lower level.

About 1900, the present church was constructed. The present school was built in 1933.

A gymnasium was added to the school in 1953 and the 6-classroom addition was begun last year. It will be dedicated Sunday.

Officiating at the dedication and at confirmation of 156 children and 25 adults, will be the Most Rev. Stanislaus V. Bona, bishop of the Green Bay diocese.

In 1910, the present sisters' convent was completed. It has had one addition in the intervening years. Living there is a community of the Sisters of St. Joseph of the Third Order of St. Francis. The community is headed by Sister M. Angela, principal of the grade school.

St. John congregation has been growing steadily since its founding until today it numbers about 1,000 families.

Many old Catholic organizations of the parish still are operating, such as the Sacred Heart of Jesus Altar society, founded in 1888; Holy Rosary society, 1892; Apostleship of Prayer society, 1892; Third Order of St. Francis, 1895; and Young Ladies sodality, date uncertain.

Father Szupryt is assisted by the Revs. John Mirek and Frank Mintjal.

venting the breakdown of a family," Mrs. Falvey told the Langes.

The agency also helps families find and make use of opportunities for employment, physical and mental care, housing and public welfare service, she said.

Family service is supported by $11,000 from the Neenah-Menasha Community Chest, whose goal is $128,400. It includes $1,500 for the Twin Cities dental clinic program for children whose parents are financially unable to pay for it.

Tuancy Cases
Pre-delinquency behavior currently is one of the most pressing problems on which Family service is providing counseling and aid, Mrs. Falvey told the Langes.

"Tuancy and other instances of pre-delinquency behavior are brought to our attention by schools, the police and others and we do what we can to help the family."

Mrs. Falvey said Family service and other private and public agencies work together.

Family service investigates and recommends for other welfare services which have no case workers. It also screens families for charitable Christmas giving in Neenah-Menasha.

"Is the assistance offered by Family service mostly for indigent families?" the Langes asked.

"Not at all," Mrs. Falvey said. "Most of the persons who bring their problems to Family service are from average income families in the community. We try to help them all develop the capacities to solve their own problems."

Galaxy of Bargains Now in Groceries

Another galaxy of bargains greets the thrifty housewife for the weekend as she shops in Fox Cities groceries.

But this weekend's emphasis is on the lowly rather than the exotic—the onion and the potato rather than the luscious (and often expensive) earlier fruits and vegetables.

Seasonal crops of onions and potatoes have just been harvested, according to produce salesmen, and the result is low price, wide choice and good quality foods—especially in the lowly line.

Wisconsin Potatoes
Wisconsin white potatoes, considered excellent quality this season, range from 2 to 5 cents a pound, depending on the size. Best buys still are the 50-cent sacks—considered an economical purchase.

Idaho high-quality baking potatoes range from 7 to 8 cents a pound, and are of good quality.

Onion bargains are abundant, and the vegetable is equally durable. Wisconsin onions cost 4 cents a pound. Fancy Spanish and Bermudas are more expensive.

Other Bargains
Other vegetable bargains include lettuce, 19 to 29 cents a head; green onions, 10 cents a bunch; turnips, 15 cents a bunch; peppers, 5 to 7 cents each; artichokes, 25 cents a piece; parsnips, 33 cents a pound; Brussels sprouts, 29 cents a pint; green beans, 29 cents a pound; cauliflower, 29 to 39 cents a head; squash, 5 cents a pound for large, 5 cents each for acorn; cabbage, 10 cents a pound; beets, 15 cents a bunch; broccoli, 25 cents a bunch.

Fruit prices have not changed substantially since last week. Best buys still are plums, grapes, apples and bananas. Peaches, tomatoes, lemons, oranges and other citrus still are rather high.

Butchers' counters feature the same fowl and pork bargains common for the last two months. Chicken ranges from 29 to 39 cents a pound for fryers, 29 cents a pound for stewing chickens. Turkey is about 39 cents a pound; duckling, 39 cents. All are considered good bargains.

Pork Picnic Roast
The best bargain in the pork line is picnic roast, as low as 29 cents a pound. Other pork prices remain unchanged, with chops ranging from 69 to 89 cents a pound and loin from 45 to 55 cents.

Variety meats vary in price. Veal is rather high, at 99 cents a pound for chops and 1.19 a pound for steak. Lamb chops are 69 cents a pound, considered a fair bargain.

Beef prices, too, are about the same. Chuck roasts range from 55 to 69 cents a pound, depending on quality. Rump roasts are from 89 to 99 cents. Porterhouse steak is about $1.39 and sirloin steak, $1.09.

The egg market remains steady. Grade A large eggs range from 51 to 59 cents a dozen, compared to previous lows of 35 cents a dozen.

Watermelon Pickle Fine for Holiday Giving

A favorite fruit relish is watermelon pickle. As one of my friends says, she feels so thrifty when she uses the rind in this fashion.

Also she can show with pride at least one homemade preserve which her friends like so much, that she usually makes enough for Christmas gifts.

She has tried many recipes but has finally settled on her grandmother's specialty in which the rind is always crisp. She believes this is due to a small amount of alum added to the water in which the rind is first cooked. Today, this must usually be purchased at a drugstore.

Watermelon Pickle
4 pounds (3½ quarts) prepared watermelon rind
6 tablespoons salt
2 quarts cold water
2 quarts boiling water
1 quart vinegar
12 cups sugar
½ cup whole cloves
½ cup whole allspice berries

To prepare rind, select firm but not overripe melon. Remove green skin and pink flesh from rind. Cut in pieces and weigh or measure. Soak overnight in cold water to which salt has been added. Drain, cover with fresh water, and cook eight to 10 minutes. Mix boiling water, vinegar, sugar and spices tied in cheesecloth, and bring to a boil, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Cook five minutes, add drained rind, and cook until transparent, about 45 minutes. Remove spice bag. Pour into hot, sterilized jars and seal immediately.

Nikita Saw U. S. Wants Peace, Humphrey Says

La Crosse — Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D - Minn.) said Tuesday Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's visit to the United States gave him the chance to see that the American people want peace. "He took the opportunity to denounce capitalists in their own back yard," Humphrey said.

Humphrey winds up a 5-day tour of the state today. The trip was made with an eye toward Wisconsin's 1960 presidential primary. During an appearance at Beloit earlier Tuesday he reiterated previous statements that it would be late December or early January before he makes a definite announcement concerning the race for the Democratic nomination.

"The more contact we have with the Soviet Union," Humphrey said, "the better our relations between each other will become."

However, Humphrey warned it would be folly for the U. S. not to recognize the power of Russia. "It would be national suicide to ignore her strength," Humphrey said. "But we should be willing to pit our system against their system. I am confident we would be successful."

Handy Sizes
Canned foods offer year-round variety that saves diet monotony. Another plus factor of canned foods is that they are available in sizes for individual family need. Handy for the groups of two or those who live alone are the popular 8-ounce or buffet size cans. The 1-pound size can is ideal for families of four. Also, many items now come in larger family size cans.

A Scene From a Fox Cities food processing plant illustrates modern methods of commercial canning. The popularity increase of canned foods is shown by statistics from the National Canners association, which states that about 400 million more pounds of canned goods are produced each year to keep up with the growing population. Today, between 20 and 25 billion pounds of food are canned commercially.

Canning, as explained by the National Canners association, is a method of preserving foods by good cooking done in airtight containers. Actually, the process is said to have gotten started during the time of Napoleon whose armies were desperately in need of preserved food. Tremendous progress made since

Economy Depression Proof, Economists Say

Seattle — A former member of President Eisenhower's council of economic advisers says, "the U. S. economy now is depression-proof."

Never again will the U. S. suffer a collapse such as it did in 1929 to 1932, Dr. Neil H. Jacoby told the convention of the National Consumer Finance association Tuesday.

Dr. Jacoby, now dean of the graduate school of business administration at the University of California at Los Angeles, said:

"Not only is the U. S. economy free from the serious weaknesses it had in 1929, but it has gained structural elements of resistance against deep recession."

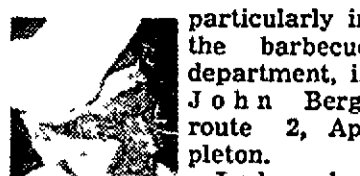

then has perfected the process. Canned foods as processed by the modern industry are packed actually in steel, rather than in tin. Sheets of steel are coated with a layer of tin, thinner than a human hair, to make the container which is coated inside, not with laquer, but with an organic substance.

The quantity of steel used for canned foods is exceeded now only by the amount of steel used in the automobile and building industries.

Canned foods now have practically the same appearance, texture and taste as foods cooked in the family kitchen. Because they are packed at peak maturity they are rich in nutrients. Some plant and animal tissues are actually easier to digest after canning.

WHAT'S COOKIN'?

Representative of the growing number of men who are trying their hand at cooking,

John Berg has come up with an idea for roasting corn outdoors that's hard to beat.

Once tried, this method is pronounced super - delicious and a line always forms for seconds. Here's how John does it, whether for family party or a gathering with a guest list of 75.

Pull corn husks back, but not off, and remove all silk. Then fold husks back over ears. They may be secured with wire if desired. The second step is to soak corn, husks and all, in salted water for 24 hours. Two cups of salt is about right for a washtub full of water.

When the charcoal fire is right, burning evenly with no flame, place corn on barbecue rack. Cover with wet newspaper, about six layers that have been soaked and allowed to drip so excess moisture won't put out the fire. The corn is steamed thus for 20 minutes, with each ear being turned frequently for even cooking. In case the group is large, or guests have not arrived, wrap each cooked ear in fresh, dry newspaper as stored in a cardboard carton, it keeps on steaming and stays warm.

Big Wisconsin Apple Crop Ready for Eating, Baking

Thank you, Johnny Appleseed! The bulk of Wisconsin's apples are sold fresh before Dec. 1. The rest are stored or processed.

When buying apples, select a variety in season, one that is best for its intended use. Look for apples that are: one million bushels and our firm and well-shaped for eye appeal, well colored for the variety — for ripeness and full flavor, and those free from blemishes or soft spots. Apples generally are graded U. S. Extra Fancy, Fancy, U. S. No. 1. They should be stored in a cool space. Processed apples may be purchased as canned apples, apple sauce, diced apples, frozen baked apples, cobbler, cake, salads, applesauce, or as frozen apple slices all ready for use.

Statistics show that we haven't been eating as many apples as our grandparents did. They tell us we average only one apple every six and one-half days. In the "good old days," the bowl of shiny, red, fragrant apples was always on the dining room table. And the supply had to be replenished regularly.

Today, in a calorie-conscious world, it's good to remember that one medium apple has only about 75 calories and about 8 per cent of the daily recommended Vitamin C we need.

Today most of the apples that reach retail markets are grown on specialized farms where soil and climate are favorable to apple culture. The small orchards, a fixture on almost every farm 50 years ago, is fast disappearing.

Wisconsin has five major commercial apple areas: Door county, the Kickapoo valley, west central Wisconsin, the lakeshore district and Bayfield county. In addition there are some large individual orchards in other sections of the state.

Hearty Sandwich Fillings Please Lunch Box Toters

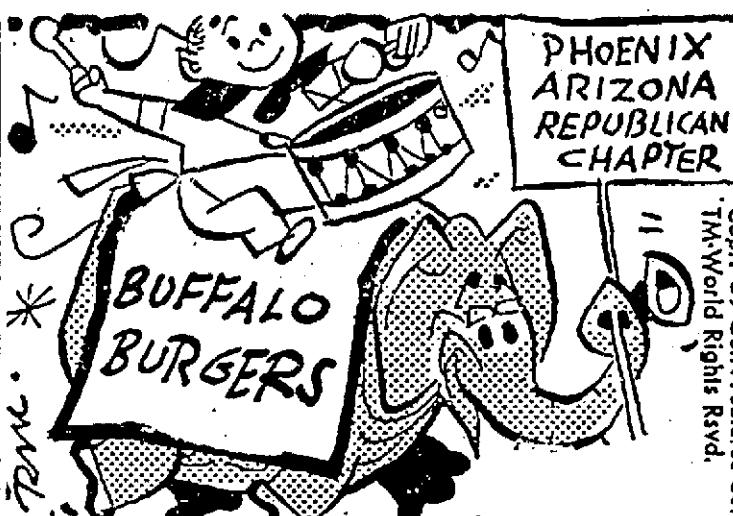

The school luncheon break finds children hungry and often clamoring for food. Many schools offer a lunch at little cost, but it may be necessary for this to be brought from home.

Sandwiches, cookies and fruit are usually chosen for the lunch box, as they carry well. Sandwiches should not be made too far ahead of time, unless they can be stored in the refrigerator. They always should be wrapped in one of the many materials available for this purpose.

Moist fillings seldom are satisfactory for the lunch box, and, fortunately, the children usually prefer flaked fish, cheese or the ever-popular peanut butter, either plain or combined with raisins or dates and chopped nuts.

Good fillings for lunch box sandwiches include the following: chopped cooked meat, minced onion, celery and mayonnaise; mashed sardines, lemon juice and hard-cooked egg; tuna fish, celery, horseradish pickles and mayonnaise; hard-cooked egg, chopped stuffed olives and mayonnaise; deviled ham and cottage cheese, and peanut butter with raisins or dates.

Nearly everyone watches calories to some extent these days. Evidence of this growing trend is found in the constantly expanding space devoted to dietetic foods in supermarkets. Some stores have special sections devoted exclusively to low-calorie foods.

Outdoor Burger Recipe Sure Hit That Uses Various Meats

BY FRANK KOHLER

Don't be discouraged by the title "Buffalo Burgers," because Robert A. Uihlein, Milwaukee, assured us that the recipe is "also good for moose, deer, caribou, elk, beef shoulder meat, or even steaks or chops." He joined our Phoenix, Ariz., Republican chapter with this highly talented outdoor recipe.

Buffalo Burgers
1 pound buffalo steak (or whatever), all sinews removed.
2 slices raw bacon.
2 slices whole wheat bread.
1 tablespoon butter.
1 medium onion, chopped fine.
1 cup chili sauce.
1 egg, unbeaten.
Pinch of chili powder.
Dash of allspice.
Salt and pepper to taste.
Put meat and bacon through the grinder, then run the bread through. Melt butter and saute onion until just transparent. Mix everything well together and run through the grinder once more. Form into patties and broil outdoors over good coals (or indoors, for that matter).

Vegetable Dill Salad
Vegetable dill salad is an ideal partner for the burgers above outlined. For four people:
1 cup chopped dill pickle.
1 cup chopped celery.
1 can kidney beans, drained.

Dash Tabasco.
1 tablespoon grated onion and juice.
Three-fourths teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon black pepper.
One-third cup mayonnaise (or enough to bind well).
Mix everything well, and refrigerate for at least two hours before serving.
Cheese El Boulevard
This, with a demitasse of very black, strong coffee, makes a fine conclusion for a good meal. We learned it at a noted restaurant in Tampa, Fla., years ago. For each portion, in a shallow dessert dish, place a square (half of a 3-ounce package) of cream cheese.
Place on the cheese a thin

Weird Tasks Help Keep Man In Business

Supplies Animals For Broadway and Television Shows

New York — Fred Birkner, help keep him in business.

Take the time he came up with a live pink elephant for a wild New Year's party. Or when he supplied 1,000 fleas for a television show. Or the perfect gift for the mother-in-law: A skunk, deodorized, of course.

Birkner's zany business is supplying animals, mainly to Broadway and television shows. His Chateau Theatrical Animals "farm" on 48th street boasts these animal characters:

Midget Mule
Maude, the midget mule who can sit in a chair.

Buttercup Hyacinth Bert-ram III, a cow with measurements of 108-62-32, who has been big on TV.

King Solomon, a lion who sits in a barber's chair for a shave and haircut, or who takes frequent bubble baths.

Birkner, 38, a native of Austria, got into the animal business accidentally. He had a riding academy near Central park before he started supplying cows and other animals to theatrical and TV producers as a favor. The animal supply business soon replaced the riding academy.

Birkner also has a goodly supply of wagons, chariots, sleighs and dog carts. A man in Vermont once specified in his will that he be taken to his grave in a horse-drawn hearse. Birkner supplied the hearse—as well as the horse.

Weird Requests
"For Vermont," said Birkner, "that was carrying coals to Newcastle."

Birkner recalled some of his more weird requests.

"The 1,000 fleas were for a Milton Berle show at Center theater," he said. "But during rehearsal a stagehand kicked over the jar and the fleas got out. Maybe that's why they tore down the Center theater."

But Birkner thinks his strangest request might be the one from a man who wanted a pony delivered to his bathroom. He added: "The guy just wanted to tell his wife: 'There's a pony in the bathtub.'"

Civilian Employment In U. S. Government Gains in August

Washington — Civilians employed by the federal government totaled 2,372,608 in August, a net increase of 1,914 over July.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) reported this today as chairman of the joint committee on reduction of nonessential federal expenditures, which issues monthly reports on federal employment.

He said civilian agencies in August employed 1,293,804 persons, an increase of 1,072 over July, while civilians employed by military agencies total 1,078,804 in August, an increase of 842 over July.

Because Hawaii had just become a state, civilian government employees inside the United States increased 22,946 for the month, while employees outside decreased by 21,893. These figures included 21,893 employees in Hawaii now counted as being inside the United States.

Mushrooms No Longer Luxury Food

It is illuminating to compare older cookbooks with new volumes. The mushroom if mentioned at all, is only to be found in dishes suggested for parties.

Today, they might be called a standard ingredient. It is a comparatively modern process to cultivate mushrooms for market. Formerly, they were only available in late summer and early fall where they were hand-picked from pasture lands.

A few canned mushrooms were imported from France and were expensive. In flavor, they could not compare with those we find in canned form today and for such a moderate price. They combine so well with chicken and other meats that we often use them as a stretcher for leftovers with which a sauce is served as a blender.

Canned mushrooms also have a place in salads and on the appetizer tray. When they are served cold, they need a highly seasoned dressing.

Mushroom Relish

1 can (3 to 4 ounce) mushrooms, caps or slices
1 cup minced sweet onion
1 cup French dressing
2 tablespoons minced parsley

Drain mushrooms. Add onion to French dressing and pour over mushrooms. Chill in refrigerator and when ready to serve, add parsley. Serve on relish tray with other savory appetizers.

Hawaiian Chicken

2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 tablespoon sugar
2 tablespoons soy sauce
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 clove garlic, minced
1 can (3 to 4 ounce) mushrooms, sliced
1 cup scallions (young onions), sliced
1 cup fresh or frozen peas
Place chicken in a large pot. Season with salt, and add water to depth of 1 inch. Cover and bring to boiling. Lower heat and simmer about 30 minutes until tender. Remove chicken. Combine cornstarch with sugar and seasonings and stir into broth. Continue stirring over medium heat until sauce is thick and clear. Add vegetables and chicken breasts. Heat thoroughly and serve with rice or noodles.

Season Tickets For Grid Tilts

Kimberly — Season tickets for Kimberly High school home football games are available at the superintendent's office, according to Ray Hamann, principal.

Kimberly will play its first home tilt against Neenah Friday. Three other Mid-Eastern conference games will be played at the Papermaker field.

The season passes also will be on sale at the field ticket booths Friday night, Hamann said.

Legion Women to Sponsor Dance For Homecoming

Little Chute — The American Legion auxiliary will sponsor a dance for high school students at 8:30 p.m. Friday in the village hall following the Homecoming parade.

Music will be furnished by a local orchestra and dancing will continue until 11 p.m. Refreshments will be available at the hall and auxiliary members will serve as chaperons.

Although other auxiliary sponsored dances are "dress-up" affairs, students will be permitted to attend this affair in jeans or casual street wear as it follows the parade.

Motorist Fined $10 for Failing To Yield Way

Kaukauna — Larry Weeder, 21, 803 W. Oklahoma street, Appleton, pleaded guilty of failing to yield the right of way to a pedestrian when arraigned before Oscar T. Jahns, justice of the peace, Wednesday, and was fined $10.

Weeder was arrested after narrowly missing a high school student who was in a crosswalk on his way to school.

Neil J. Hietpas, 23, 601 Taylor street, Little Chute, pleaded guilty of speeding and was fined $10 by Justice Jahns.

Stuffed Tomato Salad

Choose even-sized tomatoes. Remove pulp from centers and combine diced cucumbers, celery and a little onion. Moisten with mayonnaise and add salt to taste.

Tomato Dish

A little different twist to a specialty, such as this one. Cook several slices of bacon until crisp; remove from pan and drain. Slice an onion and cook in bacon fat until tender but not brown; drain off fat. Add a can of okra and tomatoes and the crumbled bacon. Stir lightly and heat.

Dodge Offers 2 New Lines

Available in 11
Models; Styling
Changes Announced

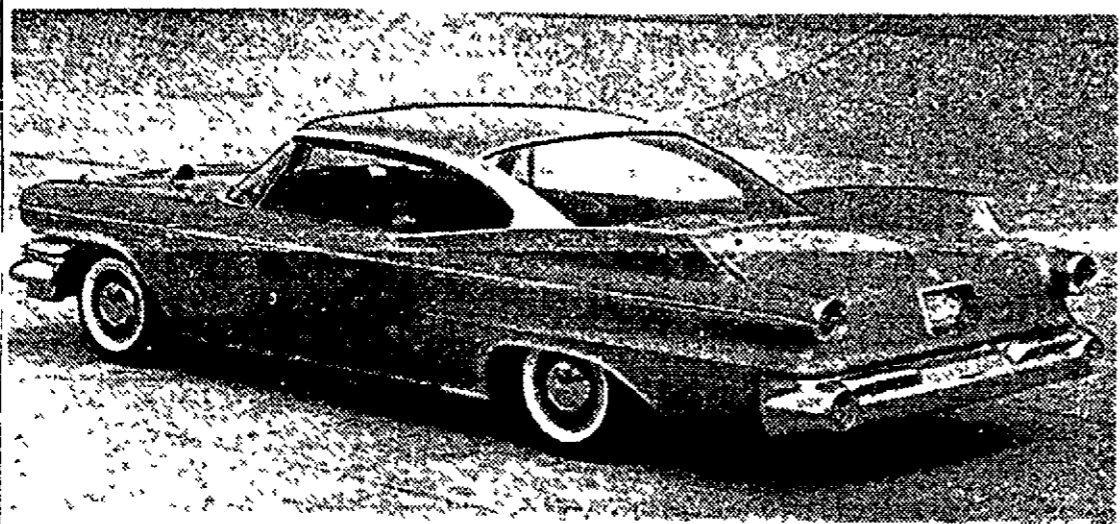

Dodge today introduced two all - new lines of cars—the Matador and the Polara.

The cars will be offered in 11 sedan, hardtop, station wagon and convertible models featuring a combination of Dodge engineering and styling changes. M. C. Patterson, Dodge general manager said.

The Unibody construction integrates the body and the frame into a single unified structure. The Unibody gives Dodge more room on the inside, greater structural strength, and provides an island of comfort and quiet for the driver and passengers, Patterson said.

"These engineering achievements permitted stylists to create a new exterior silhouette. At the same time, door openings are larger and higher so it is easier to get in and out of our new cars," he said.

Jet-Tube Fenders The sweeping exterior silhouette is accented by small canted fins flaring from jet-tube rear fenders, climaxed by large, single tail lights. Style features of the front of the cars are the flaring bumper with recessed wrap-around parking lights, and new horizontal grille.

A lighter, thinner roof line made possible by more glass gives an airy feeling like a convertible. A special feature in hardtop models is a sky-view rear window available in shaded glass that cuts out 85 per cent of the sun's heat.

Dodge's new induction system, an exclusive feature used on the C-500 ram induction engine, is optional on Matador and Polara models.

Standard in the Matador series is the 361 - cubic-inch super red ram V-8 engine, equipped with a 2 - barrel carburetor. The Polara models feature a 383-cubic-inch ram fire V-8, with a 4-barrel carburetor.

Rubber block and heavy coil spring engine mountings on the 1960 engines achieve the largest reduction of engine vibration since Dodge first began using V-8's.

Heavier metal is used in the sills and underbody, and 20 separate operations are involved in the body protection and finishing process. They include seven different dipping steps, seven external sprays and six coats of sealers, primers and super enamels.

Safety and Convenience New safety and convenience features include optional automatic swivel seats that swing out when the door is opened, then swing back to the straight - ahead position when the door is closed; 2-position door checks that hold doors firmly in either a half-open or full-open position; optional child guard vacuum-powered door locks operated from the instrument panel that provide 1-switch locking or unlocking of all doors and the tailgate window on station wagons; a wider glove compartment and large, centrally-located ash tray; transistorized radios that include a rear seat speaker in all sedans and hardtops.

Also included are full-width sun visors that cut down glare; a 4-light warning flasher system, dealer installed, that causes all turn signal lights to flash continuously for safety when stopped on the highway; an all - aluminum exhaust system, new fuel tank center-fill location in the rear bumper.

Dodge introduces two new station wagon body styles.

The Polara station wagon features hardtop styling, with an uninterrupted viewing expanse from windshield to rear door pillar. The Matador features the same roof styling, and has a full center door pillar.

Available in 6-and 9-passenger models, the station wagons are tailored with accessory items including: A chrome contour luggage rack, dealer installed, that holds up to 25 square feet of roof-top cargo.

In keeping with the quality-look of the 122-inch wheelbase Dodges, interior fabrics are color-keyed to the interiors.

A range of 15 exterior colors is offered in enamel.

McLean, Rote Hope to Haunt Former Club

Cochran, McIlhenny, Masters Once Were With Lions

Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay — Halloween horror: The Packers and Lions will try to haunt each other with ghosts of the past at City stadium Sunday afternoon.

The Lions have such goblins as "Scooter" McLean, Tobin Rote, Ollie Spencer and Ken Russell. The Packers can counter with spooksters "Red" Cockran, Don McIlhenny and Norm Masters.

Thus, Detroit has an advantage, 4 shivers to 3. Two of the opposing grampus cancer each other out—Russell and Masters.

Russell was here for just a couple of days of practice and then quit camp, presumably

Colts Sell 57,557 General Admission Tickets for Bear Tilt

Baltimore — The National Football league Baltimore Colts are sold out of their 57,557 general admission tickets for the Chicago Bears game here Saturday night.

A Colt spokesman said Wednesday the only ones available are 600 tickets for students under 20 years. They will go on sale Saturday morning.

Chicago — Fred Haney, who has won two pennants, lost one on the final day and another in a playoff in 31 years with Milwaukee, will tender his resignation as manager probably before the end of the World Series, a trusted source told The Associated Press today.

The source, a friend of Haney's connected with another major league club, said Haney told him: "Win or lose, I'm through in Milwaukee."

Haney hinted he might quit as far back as last June. He refused to discuss the matter publicly except to say "anything that's to be said about it will have to come from the front office."

Perini Quoted — Owner Lou Perini has been quoted as saying that Haney, whose Braves were beaten by Los Angeles for the National league pennant in a playoff, can remain as manager as long as he wants.

The 60-year-old Californian took over the club June 15, 1956, succeeding Charlie Grimm. After his Braves were beaten for the flag by the Dodgers on the final day, he steered them to two successive pennants and one world championship. It wasn't until the twelfth inning of the second playoff game that his club was eliminated this year.

Haney's expected resignation was one of the major shakeups reported to be brewing at the World Series headquarters. Other reports include: Either Ralph Houk or Ed

Vikings Seek To End Road Loss Streak

BY MIKE DREW

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

It's been almost three years to the day since Lawrence college last won a football game on the road.

True, the Viking gridders' current 10-game road losing skid doesn't approach the longevity of the school's still unbroken string of 42 straight away-from-home basketball losses.

Still, Coach Bernie Heseltin and Co. probably feel that enough is enough. Saturday, at Monmouth, Ill., the Vikings have a good chance of snipping the distressing string which began with a 19-0 loss to Carleton Oct. 27, 1956.

None of the current Lawrence varsity men have ever played on a winner on enemy terrain.

The Vikes, who have already lost one co-captain, Rick Ramsey, for most of the season due to injury, may go into Saturday's game with the other one on the injured list too.

Hackworthy Limping — Senior center Dave Hackworthy, a solid linebacker on defense, came up with a severe charley horse in practice Wednesday for the second straight day and was limping badly. If he can't play Saturday, tackle Bob Smith would probably move to center and Doug Grimm or Pete Thomas would likely go to tackle.

Tackle Bill Whitmore hurt an ankle Wednesday and the injury could be severe enough to limit, or preclude, his playing at Monmouth.

Split Even — The Vikes and Monmouth have both split even in their pair of 1959 starts. Each of the losses has been by one point — Lawrence's by 8-7 to Knox and the Scots', 9-8, to Beloit.

But Lawrence's victory (32-14 over Grinnell) was far more impressive than Monmouth's (8-6 over the Pioneers).

Two good performances don't make a title contender but Lawrence fans are hopeful that their club can approach the record of the 1956 squad—the last blue and white outfit to win away from home.

Since that 4-4 season, material-shy Lawrence has come up with a couple of 1-7 campaigns.

The solo 1958 win was a 14-0

Coe, Cornell Favored — Co-leading Coe and Cornell will be favored to ring up their third consecutive Midwest conference victories Saturday afternoon. Surprising Cornell, which hasn't been scored upon in whipping strong Carleton and St. Olaf, visits Beloit. Coe welcomes Grinnell. Carleton plays at Knox and St. Olaf invades Ripon.

trouncing of Monmouth, in Appleton. Lawrence has an 11-4 edge over the Illinois school in the overall series, with most of the wins coming under Bernie.

Scots Outgained — Monmouth was outgained on the ground and in the air in the victory over Grinnell. After recovering a Grinnell fumble on the Pioneer 34 early in the game, the Scots marched to their only touchdown. From then on the game was played in Monmouth territory.

Monmouth was held to mi-

NOTES and NOTIONS

Braves' fans — and there still are legions of them despite a lower '59 attendance and the amazingly small crowd at Monday's playoff game—have a lot of hot stove league "time to reflect on "what might have been." There were so many "turning points" in the last month, that it would be useless to speculate on which was the most crucial. It all boils down to this, however. The Braves did not play real good ball when they needed it most. They lost four of the last six "must" games—and one of the two victories (5-2 over the Phils) can be traced to an early arrival of Christmas.

Still, the Braves merit heaps of praise for their comeback that helped make the National league race one of the most exciting on record (and the second playoff game one of the most nerve-racking TV events I've witnessed). Let's we forget, Fred Haney's Tribe had to contend with a host of infirmities, including such key losses as "Red" Schoendienst, West Covington and for varying period John Logan. (If Logan hadn't been spilled out of that playoff game, it might still be going on). Unfortunately, the farm system produced no "Hurricane" Hazle this year to help take up the slack. These final weeks proved that the Braves don't have the pitching edge over their rivals, most of us had always assumed they own. One other thing is crystal clear, as state fans look ahead to '60. The Braves are going to have to pension off a good many of their old-timers. A lot of new blood is needed—and sentiment will just have to be brushed aside.

Meanwhile, back at Swami headquarters, I'm trying to clear the smog out of my crystal globe. I got off to a wobbly 65.2 per cent (15 hits and 8 misses) start for the football forecasting season.

Packers over Lions—Last week, I was glad to be wrong on the Bays, and this week, Tobin Rote could easily get the "homecoming" spirit and make me unhappy to be wrong. But, after getting a look at the Packer defense last week, I believe it's good enough to blunt the Lions' claws.

Wisconsin over Marquette—They won't need an IBM to compute the UW total as they did in the latest three meetings (50, 60 and 41 points) of the state rivals, but the Badgers still have too much manpower and talent for the rebuilding Warriors. It could be quite a ball game, because the last time "Liz" Blackburn sent a team into action at Camp Randall, the Badgers barely squeaked through, 13-11.

Lawrence over Monmouth—If the Vikes can repeat or even approximate this Saturday their glowing showing in the Grinnell game, even a revenge-seeking Scot eleven won't be able to contain them.

Appleton over East—The opposition gets considerably rougher, but the Terrors have the "guns" to set off another victory salvo.

Neenah over Kimberly—Though the Papermakers are improving steadily, they seemingly are still a little short of the all-around soundness of the unscored-upon Rockets.

Kaukauna over Two Rivers—The Ghosts could still be a factor in the title race despite their narrow loss to Neenah. And, they'll be working hard to prove it Friday.

New London at Clintonville—The Truckers may extend their unscored-upon on record to 12 straight quarters. In any event, they have too much power for the Bulldogs.

Shawano at Menasha—The rebuilt Jays are due to start jelling and appear to have just enough to edge their well-matched foe.

St. John over Prentomre—The sophomores, who are learning the St. John type of ball faster than expected, have augmented a small but talented corps of veterans to make the Dutchmen a factor again in Valley competition. Homecoming hysteria will also help St. John over the top against a tough rival.

St. Mary over Abbot Pennings—The Zephyrs will have to be at their best to kayo a challenging foe, but they have developed enough of a wallop to do it.

Other FRVC games—West over Oshkosh, Manitowoc over North, Central over Fond du Lac.

Central Wisconsin—Wauwata over Marion, Bonduel over Weyauwega, Wittenberg over Manawa.

'Liz' Wants Balanced Attack, But UW Stresses Air Defense

Bruhn Still Worried About Hackbart's Knee

Madison — The University of Wisconsin football team tuned up its pass defense Wednesday as Coach Milt Bruhn worried about his star quarterback, Dale Hackbart.

Hackbart banged his knee in a pass defense drill against Marquette formations, the same knee he injured more than two weeks ago and which bothered him in the Stanford game.

Bruhn said that Hackbart is not running the way he should and put him on the bench during part of the workout, alternating him with Jim Bakken.

The regular injured list included only guard Charles Sprague, who has been out of action since early in the season. Guard Jerry Klucinski and tackle Terry Huxhold are expected to return to the lineup in time for the thirty-fifth playing of the annual contest between the two schools.

Butler Takes Brown's Spot On Roster

Green Bay — Billy Butler, the fiery freshman halfback from Chattanooga and Berlin, was placed on the active roster after practice Wednesday.

Lombardi made room for Butler by placing Timmy Brown, the rookie back from Ball State, on waivers.

Butler had been used mostly as a defensive back during the training season but was switched to offense yesterday. Billy will be back receiving punts and kickoffs against the Lions.

Packers are No Longer Seen As Easy Prey by Detroit '11'

Detroit — In years past, the Green Bay Packers were looked upon as easy prey by the Detroit Lions as they prowled to various National Football league titles.

But times have changed. The Packers aren't anybody's favorite opponent these days—not since their triumph over the mighty Chicago Bears a week ago.

The club the Lions have defeated 15 times in the last 18 games is causing a lot of headaches among NFL coaches who used to regard the Packers as a sure thing.

Blackbourn Moves Lane Into 1st Lineup to Replace Mestnik

Milwaukee — Coach "Liz" Blackbourn says his Marquette university football team is as ready as it will ever be for the meeting with Wisconsin on Saturday.

"They've got plenty of experience and they're strong all over," Blackbourn said.

700 Line Up At Daybreak For Tickets

Chicago — The lone man who started the week at the Chicago White Sox office as first in line for a bleacher seat ticket to the first game of the World Series got a lot of company early this morning.

A half dozen persons were lined up Wednesday night, patiently awaiting the opening of the ticket window at 8 a.m. this morning. Shortly after midnight, the line grew.

At daybreak, there were more than 700 persons lined up for tickets. About 1,500 bleacher seats are available for each Comiskey park game and will be placed on sale each morning of the game.

The crowd, for the most part, was cheerful—under the watchful eyes of a detail of 32 policemen.

But very few were comfortable in the 50-degree temperature and brisk wind. Most were bundled in heavy outer coats.

Club Has Rash of Injuries

Rams' Wade Probably Won't Start Sunday

By The Associated Press

A rash of injuries is beclouding the Los Angeles Rams' once rosy title hopes.

Regular quarterback Bill Wade has an injured leg and probably will not start in Sunday's game in San Francisco against the '49ers.

Has Bad Foot — Jon Arnett, one of the greatest backs in pro football, hasn't been able to practice this week. He suffered a pulled leg muscle in the game against the Philadelphia Eagles and reinjured the leg last week against the New York Giants.

Co-Capt. Will Sherman, defensive back, has a bad foot, and is doubtful if he can play at San Francisco.

With Sherman out and the defensive backs showing glaring weaknesses, Ram hopes against San Francisco are none too good, even though Los Angeles routed the '49ers in a pre-season game.

Frank Ryan, former Rice quarterback, is expected to start as the Los Angeles signal caller.

Coach "Buddy" Parker of the Pittsburgh Steelers is trying to come up with a running attack to supplement the fine passing of quarterback Bobby Lane.

He began working newly acquired halfback Jack Call in the offensive backfield Wednesday in hopes the former Baltimore Colt would add zip to the running game.

Shaw or Pierce Will Start Friday

Lopez Has Good Bullpen but Only Two Dependable Starters

Chicago —(AP)— The Chicago White Sox won the American league pennant on pitching, speed and defense, but they might find themselves short on pitching in the World series.

Early Wynn (22-10) was to open today against Los Angeles and Roger Craig (11-5). But after that, White Sox Manager Al Lopez isn't sure. He has right-hander Bob Shaw (18-6), southpaw Billy Pierce (14-15) and right-hander Dick Donovan (9-10) but the latter might not get a starting assignment.

Lopez is not worried about his bullpen. Gerry Staley and "Turk" Lown are ready to do the anchor work. But starting pitchers could be a headache.

Only Wynn and Shaw were dependable starters all season. Pierce and Donovan have been spotty.

Nevertheless Lopez must consider both men as starters. "Pierce definitely fits into the rotation," said Lopez.

Shaw or Pierce will probably hurl the second game. Pierce could be the choice so that the stubby southpaw wouldn't have to work in the Los Angeles Coliseum, with its menacingly short left field fence.

Donovan could get a shot in the coliseum, but Lopez made it clear the Sox would have to be ahead 2-0 or 2-1 before he would use him.

Aside from possible pitching problems, the Sox are ready for the Series. Catcher Sherm Lollar has recovered from a bruised hand and will start.

Outfielder Jim Landis, who along with shortstop Luis Aparicio gives the Sox one of the fastest base-running twosomes in the game, is recovering from a leg injury.

Lopez will go with a set lineup except for right field and third base. With a left-hander pitching, Jim McAnany will be in right and "Bubba" Phillips at third. With a right-hander pitching, Jim Rivera would take the outfield post and Billy Goodman would be at third.

However, Lopez said he might be tempted to use McAnany and Phillips, both right-handed swingers, in Los Angeles regardless of who pitches in order to take advantage of the short left field fence.

DeWitt Named Tiger President

Succeeds Hansen; Salary Estimated
At $50,000

Detroit —(AP)— Bill DeWitt has a 3-year contract as president of the Detroit Tigers and assurance from club owners that they are more interested in building a winner than in making a profit.

"That's why I took the job," said the 37-year-old DeWitt, who started at the bottom and made a career out of a game he never played.

Owners of the Detroit club, at their annual board meeting Wednesday, made DeWitt the Tigers' fourth president in three years. They reportedly are paying him $50,000 a year and offered to let him purchase stock in the club.

"Logical Thing to do"

"It was the perfectly logical, normal thing to do," said stockholder Kenyon Brown. "The simple desire to have a winning baseball team dictated the move."

DeWitt succeeds Harvey Hansen, 63, whose resignation, along with that of Vice President Charles Gehring, was made public Wednesday.

Hansen had been president since April, 1957, and Fred Knorr was president for six months prior to Hansen's term. Knorr became the first president when a syndicate bought the club for $3,500,000 in 1956. He replaced Walter O. "Spike" Briggs, Jr., whose family sold the club to a group headed by Knorr, Brown and Board Chairman John Fetzer.

It was learned that Gehring disliked the way the club was operated.

AP's Liska Forecasts Wins For Wisconsin, Northwestern

BY JERRY LISKA

Chicago —(AP)— The Midwest football seer, his crystal ball badly shattered after only one bounce, tries a quick-opener on a World Series weekend.

The Old Professor batted only 500 last weekend, getting the hotfoot from Indiana, Missouri, Nebraska, Detroit and Texas A&M.

Northwestern 19, Iowa 14 — It's difficult to believe Iowa's Big Ten champion Hawkeyes haven't dropped a stitch or two from last season, despite an opening 42-12 romp over California. Iowa defeated Northwestern, 26-20, last year and we think this is a much stronger Northwestern team.

Purdue 14, Notre Dame 13 — Purdue's seasonal Boilermakers have had plenty of time to repent over their season-opening scoreless deadlock with UCLA Sept. 18. If Purdue is the Big Ten title contender everybody says, the Boilermakers should tame the Irish.

Michigan State 13, Michigan 12 — A Big Ten opener between two neighborhood rivals which will go to the Spartans because of defensive superiority.

Indiana 19, Minnesota 13 — By bouncing Illinois, 20-0, Indiana's Hoosiers gained momentum which may make them a dangerous Big Ten club for a second consecutive year.

Army 18, Illinois 12 — Illinois could look more respectable on a dry field, but the Cadets should keep their caissons rolling along after crushing Boston college 42-8.

Wisconsin 28, Marquette 14 — It may take an all-out stunt by the heralded Badgers. Marquette's pro-type passing attack was mud-coated in a 14-0 blanketing by Detroit.

Ohio State 14, Southern California 13 — The Buckeyes are rougher and tougher than their 14-13 squeak past Duke indicates.

Tiger Scores 10-Round Win Over Giardello

Chicago —(AP)— Dick Tiger, the British Empire middleweight champion, and Joey Giardello, veteran of 101 fights, are heading for a rematch.

When and where has yet to be determined.

Tiger, 30-year-old Nigerian, Wednesday night scored a unanimous 10-round decision over Giardello, ending his 3-fight winning streak.

There were no knockdowns in the televised 10-rounder.

It was Tiger's thirty-fifth victory in 45 starts. He weighed 160 pounds to Giardello's 162.

Darrel Holcomb boomed a 593 set in the Fraternal loop at Hahn's, for the Moose Legion. Earl Moritz slapped a 234 for the Odd Fellows No. 2. Deadlocked for first place are AAL No. 1 and UCT No. 2 (9-3).

A 567 by Andy Delie showed the way in the Elks Merchants circuit. He's on the co-leading Kippis Restaurant (9-3) which shares the top spot with Home Furniture and Jahnke's.

Izo, Mack Still on Questionable List At Notre Dame

Michigan State — Dean Look, the No. 1 quarterback, probably will miss the game with Michigan with a sprained shoulder.

Northwestern — Juniors Elbert Kimbrough and Irv Cross will start at ends against Iowa. They received special instruction in coping with expected wide sweeps of speedsters Bob Jeter and Ray Jauch of Iowa.

Iowa — End Curt Merz nursing a charley horse suffered in the California game, was running at full speed in a 2-hour practice stressing defense.

Braves Lose Coaches Rice And Herman

Milwaukee —<sup>AP</sup>— Billy Herman and Del Rice, two members of the Milwaukee Braves coaching staff, quit Wednesday.

Herman finished his second season with the club as third base coach under Manager Fred Haney. Rice was a second string catcher shifted to coaching duties late in the season after he was hurt in a play at the plate.

A club spokesman said Herman apparently has another job lined up, possibly with the Boston Red Sox under Billy Jurges, a former teammate with the Cubs.

Rice, the club said, "asked for and received an outright release."

McLean, Rote Hope to Haunt Former Club

because the training routine was too rugged. Russell came to Green Bay in exchange for Spencer but then wound up in Cleveland and finally back in Detroit.

Never With Lions

Masters never was with the Lions. He was the Cardinals' second draft choice in '56 but played that year in Canada. The Cards then traded rights to him to the Lions who included him in the 4-player deal (Spencer, McHenry, now retired Jim Salsbury and Masters) for Rote in '57.

Now for the Detroit tricksters:

McLean was Packer backfield coach for seven years, starting in 1951, and then handled the club as head coach in '58. He resigned a couple days after the Packers finished their worst season in history, 1-10-1, thus setting the stage for the present Vince Lombardi regime.

Real Haunting

Likeable "Scooter" can do some real haunting because he knows the Packers' personnel so well—at least the 25 holdovers from a year ago. He'll be up in the press box, guiding the Lions' offense via telephone.

Rote, now a taxpayer in Detroit suburb Birmingham, takes delight in beating the Packers and he has yet to taste defeat in four games. The closest was a tie here a year ago. The big Texan holds most of the Packers' all-time passing records.

Though he's been gone for two complete seasons, Rote still can count 11 present Packers as former teammates—Gary Knafele, Nate Borden, Dave Hanner, Bill Forester, Tom Bettis, Jim Ringo, Bart Star, Forrest Gregg, Bob Skoronski, Hank Gremminger, and Bobby Dillon.

Six of those will come in direct contact with Tobin since they're on defense—Borden, Hanner, Bettis, Gremminger and Dillon.

Come and Gone

Spencer has been here and gone back again, as it were. The insurance salesman from near Detroit said he didn't want to leave his business. Lombardi obliged by trading him to Detroit for Russell.

Ollie is the Lions' regular right offensive tackle, which means that he'll be battling Borden and Hanner. Spencer had his best day as a Packer in the Colt game in Milwaukee last year when he kept Gino Marchetti out of Starr's hair for the duration of the game.

On the Packer side, Cochran, the offensive backfield coach, is fresh from Detroit where he served in that capacity under George Wilson. When McLean resigned here, Wilson, onetime roomie of McLean when they played with the Bears, quickly hired

Don Meredith Confronts Navy

Middies Will Try To Beat SMU Star At His Own Game

By the Associated Press

How do you stop a passer like Southern Methodist's Don Meredith?

According to Navy Coach Wayne Hardin, you don't, you just try and beat him at his own game when you have the potential.

This is the way Navy will go after SMU Saturday in Dallas. The Middies have three good points to back up their plan.

'22 Skidoo' Offense

The first two are quarterback Joe Tranchini and Joe Maxwell, who run Navy's "22 skidoo" offense. The third is the effective use of the same plan by Georgia Tech last weekend in upsetting the Mustangs 16-14.

Tech quarterback Fred Brasleton gained only 73 yards compared to 241 by SMU, most of it by Meredith. But all of Tech's came in two scoring drives. Meredith also threw a pair of TD passes but missed both extra points.

"We don't intend to stop him Meredith cold," Hardin said. "We just hope to contain him in key situations and hope our offense is good enough to score more points."

"After all, we have a couple of good quarterbacks ourselves and I don't think they'll (SMU) be able to stop them either," Hardin added.

Restrained Tail Fins, Reflecting the influence of the Cadillac Eldorado Brougham, are seen in this view of the Coupe de Ville for 1960. The lighting arrangement also has been changed.

Smaller Fins On Cadillac

New Front End, Lower Appearance For New Models

The 1960 Cadillac will have restrained tailfins, a new front end with wider and lower appearance and new light arrangements, James M. Roche, Cadillac general manager and vice president of General Motors, says.

The cars will go on display Friday.

Coupled with styling changes are developments in the mechanical operation, including developments in the braking system.

Cadillac is offering 13 models in three standard and one custom series. All models are unchanged in dimensions over last year's.

Limited Production

The Eldorado Brougham has a new bumper and grille in its limited production style. The grille features jewel-like ornaments that sparkle from a field of horizontal and vertical bars.

The sculptured design of the side panels is complemented by the flaring out of the lower door panels and lower rear quarter.

At each end of the front bumper is a broad, visor-like chrome housing with two parking and directional signal lamps recessed below. On the hood is a new slimmer V and crest.

Smaller Tailfins

The new silhouette is achieved with the lower tail fin, giving one long sweep from the hood to the rear of the car. The fins again carry the tail lamps.

The Fleetwood 60 has nine small vertical louvers in body color and chrome below the tail fin. It also has a fabric-covered top, matching the body color and outlined by a narrow molding.

The air intake below the windshield on all models has strips of body color in a finely shaped grille.

Florentine leathers and harmonizing fabrics appear in 103 new combinations.

Increased rear brake cooling, provided by new finned and extended rear drums, makes possible use of larger rear wheel brake cylinders.

A vacuum released parking brake is a new feature this year. With the engine running, the brake automatically released when the car is put into gear.

Engine improvements include:

1. New engine mount of spring steel smooths out vibrations.
2. Cantilevered spring on the rear suspension lower arm reducing noise and vibration.
3. A temperature-controlled fan on all air-conditioned cars, eliminating fan noises.

City to Seek Ruling on Exchange of Property

American Legion Desires 2.41 Acres in Park on Which to Build Clubrooms

Kaukauna — The finance committee of the common council will seek a ruling from the counsel for the League of Municipalities on the legality of a property transfer between the city and the American Legion.

In December, 1938, the city sold a building and lot to the American Legion for $1 with the stipulation the city could buy back the property for school purposes at any time. Price to rebuy the property would be $1 plus cost of maintenance.

Recently the city acquired property from the county for park purposes and the Legion would like 2.41 acres of it for building a clubhouse and use as an American Legion Memorial park. In exchange for the acreage, the Legion is willing to give up the present building without charging the city for maintenance costs.

Attorney Rules
Emmet Rohan, city attorney, ruled the city could not give the Legion city property without receiving a reasonable amount for it. A municipality cannot sell property for less than its true worth, said the attorney, and any citizen has the right to stop such a move should it be attempted.

The original selling of property to the Legion was an illegal contract, said the attorney, and he doubted whether the city would be required to give the Legion more than $1 for the building and lot when it desires the premises for school purposes.

John Esler, speaking for the Legion, said the original contract may have been illegal but if still would be binding to both parties. The city would be liable for building maintenance costs which might prove more expensive than the building is worth. He suggested an exchange of properties would prove beneficial to the city.

Borrow Money
The city has offered the Legion the 2.41 acres with stipulations it be maintained as a city park and revert to the city in event the stipulations are broken. The Legion has about $10,000 in its building fund, according to Esler, and contemplates building a structure of about $50,000 to $60,000.

Stipulations on the property makes it impossible for the organization to borrow necessary funds, he continued. Rohan warned the mortgage holder, should the Legion default on payments, would then have first right to the property thus city land would be taken over by a private party or parties.

Expect Huge Throng at Kimberly Tilt

Kimberly — A capacity crowd is expected here Friday night when the Kimberly High football team entertains highly rated Neenah at 8 p.m. in a Mid-Eastern conference game.

Neenah is ranked as the title favorite in the league this season and the Papermakers seem to have found themselves after a slow start.

Last week the Rocket's edged by Kaukauna in the closing minutes of the game and Kimberly blanked Menasha, 12-0. Consequently, the teams will be battling for a share of first place.

Coach Jim Nirschl reports that his squad came through the Bluejay game with only minor bumps and bruises. He plans to go along with the starting lineup which he has been using for the first two games.

In the season opener, Kimberly lost to St. John of Little Chute, 20-6.

Falling Behind
"The last reports I saw indicated exports are now falling a little behind imports. In other words, a few years back our exports substantially exceeded imports, but the lines have crossed according to the charts and imports are increasing while exports are slowly dwindling away as of July 1 of this year. These figures do not include the many millions our citizens spend abroad as tourists, and if this was added the situation would be still more alarming."

Possibly Rep. Porter would say that if American industry is not efficient, it deserves to lose its markets. But the question is not one of efficiency. It is taxes, high wages, inflation and a generally difficult economic situation.
Walter S. Johnson answers
the question this way:

"... The United States unlike other countries is faced with growing taxes, but I do find the statement that each year taxes take more of industries' dollars and certainly there is nothing spurious about that. The Union Oil company advertisement shows we are pricing ourselves out of world markets and if we do not stay competitive it is the same thing as pricing ourselves out of our jobs.

Cause for Worry
If Japan can land steel on the Pacific coast at $20 a ton cheaper than American mills, if Belgium can bring steel up the St. Lawrence to Cleveland $20 cheaper, if oil companies can build tankers in Japan at great savings in cost over American shipyards, if Japan can buy logs in the Philippines take to Japan and make into plywood and ship to the United States cheaper than we can make plywood from our own native woods, if Monroe Calculating, Royal Typewriter, and Remington-Rand can build office equipment in Europe and ship to the United States cheaper than it can be manufactured here, we have something to worry about."

The fact of the matter is that American companies are finding it economical to manufacture abroad, particularly for world markets. Instead of using American labor and American materials, instead of paying taxes to the government of the United States or to states or municipalities, they erect factories in foreign countries, exporting American capital for that purpose.
They cannot compete any other way.

It is fatuous for Porter to apply 19th century free trade concepts concerning the open market to a world in which the markets have become closed by government fiat.
The principal sufferer of the closed market will be the American worker who is forced to live in a war economy or face unemployment because he is out-pricing himself in both world and home markets. American steel is now out-priced. Management can export capital; what can the individual worker export when he is stuck with this kind of a situation? He can't export his job.
